Water Increase Plan Is Given To Committee

Scorcher Lies Ahead in State

Albany, July 17 (AP)—It looks like the weekend will be a scorcher in upstate New York.

Weather Bureau forecasts today held little hope of relief from the heat that sizzled most sections of the state yesterday. Today's prediction was for temperatures in the 90s—a repeat of readings that yesterday approached records for the date in at least three cities.

Syracuse and Buffalo reported 90 degrees yesterday, and the mercury rose to 91 in Albany. The reading broke a four-year-old record of 88 for the date in Buffalo and equaled the 1949 mark for July 16 in Syracuse.

The Albany temperature was the highest for the date since 1937, when the thermometer hit 94.

Commissioners Get Auditors Report —25 Per Cent Needed

A proposed water rate increase to cover cost of needed improvements was left with the finance committee of the Board of Water Commissioners last night for possible report at the August meeting.

An auditing report of Ronder and Ronder, submitted for study at last night's meeting, indicated that an increase of 25 per cent will be needed to cover the cost of construction of a standpipe and booster station in the upper Pearl and Main street area and for replacing old mains at the filter plant and reservoir.

These projects would cost an estimated $500,000, and the board has previously reported that both are necessary for adequate water service in the city.

Total 1952 Earnings

The department has $360,000 in bonds now outstanding on which $30,000 is to be paid annually until 1964. If more bonds are sold the department would not start paying on the principal until 1965, but in the interim a $12,500 annual interest would be paid. The interest rate on present bonds is $15,200 annually.

The auditors estimated the total 1953 earnings of the department at $216,000 and expenses at $209,400, which would make the net earnings only $6,600.

Short at Present

This would mean that the department at the present rate of earnings would be far short of the $30,000 required to redeem bonds and keep up its bank balance. Cost of the needed improvements would add another $12,500 to present bond charges and unless the rate is increased the department would be about $36,000 shy annually at least until 1964, if improvements were made or about $23,000 short if they were not.

The water rate in the city for the average home is $5.25 a quarter and the minimum meter rate for industrial and other installations for heavy usage is $5.50 a quarter. The increases would be about $1.31 and $1.38 a quarter for average home and minimum industrial use.

Commissioners Paul J. Schatzel and Howard S. Pangburn are on the board's finance committee, and it is expected they will have a report on the proposed increase for consideration of the board at its next regular meeting Aug. 6.

Sabre Jet Zooms To World Record Of 715.7 in Tests

Col. Barns Flies Course in Turbulent Weather at Salton Sea, California

Thermal, Calif., July 17 (AP)—An F86D Sabre jet and its veteran air force pilot have blazed to a new world's air speed record of 715.7 miles an hour. That's traveling one mile as you count to five.

Lt. Col. William F. Barns, 32, sometimes reaching speeds of more than 12 miles a minute in the nine-ton jet interceptor, eclipsed yesterday the record of 698.505 established only last November over the same three-kilometer (1.863)-mile) course by Capt. J. Slade Nash.

Barns flashed through two complete contest runs, each consisting of two trips in both directions along the straightaway course. Each of the eight trips was faster than Nash's record and the best was 721.364 when the wind was in the colonel's favor.

Changes Planes

Barns broke the record with an average of 713.6 on the first run. He changed planes and came back to re-establish the record a couple of miles per hour higher.

The speed pilot said the weather for the runs was quite turbulent.

"We didn't have the optimum conditions today," he commented. "The temperature was right (over 100 degrees), but I think the turbulence and wind cut the speed down."

How long does he think the record will last?

"From what I hear there are several airplanes coming along which will be capable of higher speed when they have the bugs worked out. We're progressing fast."

Calls It Exciting

Asked how it felt to make such a speed flight, the colonel said, "the opportunity to attempt to break a record is a very exciting occurrence. Just like any pilot who had worked on an airplane, I was real eager."

He has been testing Sabres since early models began rolling off the line.

To the 50 observers on the sun-baked beach of Southern California's Salton Sea, the powerful Sabre with the swept-back wings sped by like an arrow followed by the roaring sound of its jet engine trying vainly to catch up. Barns made each of his trips at about 100 feet altitude.

Some experimental planes have made faster flights, the speediest yet announced being the 1,238 MPH, set by Bill Bridgeman in a Navy Skyrocket launched from a mother B29.

Soldier Is Killed

Trumbull, Conn., July 17 (AP)—A soldier from Fort Devens, Mass., en route to his York, Pa., home on his birthday, was killed instantly today when, police said, the automobile he was driving went out of control on the Merritt Parkway and overturned. Pvt. John Miller, 22, was tossed 82 feet through the air from the overturned automobile and died from what Dr. Edwin R. Connors, medical examiner, described as a fractured skull. Miller's was the 14th death this year on the parkway.

FBI Probes Case

Scranton, Pa., July 17 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation probe dtoday into the background of a 40-year-old assistant cashier charged with misapplying $236,814 in funds of the Third National Bank of Scranton over a period of five years. The FBI was hastily summoned into the case yesterday by bank officials who discovered the shortage after a business firm asked for a tally of its balance. Free on $10,000 bail is Gilbert J. McCauley, 40, recently promoted to the the $3,500-a-year post of assistant cashier in charge of the bookkeeping. McCauley was on his two week vacation when arrested yesterday at his West Scranton home.

FBI Seizes Man

New York, July 17 (AP)—FBI agents today arrested Harold Lloyd Mock, 32, of Pontiac, Mich., on a charge of robbing the Auburn Heights Branch of the Pontiac State Bank of $42,800. Leland V. Boardman, special agent in charge of the FBI office here, said Mock was seized as he stepped from a plane at LaGuardia Field shortly after midnight. Mock was carrying more than $32,000 and two loaded pistols, Boardman said.

Five Are Released

Brunswich, Germany, July 17 (AP)—Five West Germans, freed under an amnesty from long prison sentences in the Soviet zone on espionage charges, were released last night by Communist police at Helmstedt. West German police who received them at the border checkpoint said all five had been serving 10-year terms at Waldheim and Torgau prisons. Thirteen other West Germans were released after serving short terms for illegal border crossings.

Larmon Is Nominated

Washington, July 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Russell R. Larmon, Dartmouth College professor, to be assistant secretary of health, education and welfare. Larmon, a Republican, has been professor of administration at the Hanover, N. H., college since 1934. He is a native of Red Oak, Iowa, and is 56 years old.

Russians' Tanks Patrol East Berlin; Work Slows

Troops, Armored Autos Patrol Stalin Allee, Riot Focus of June 17

Berlin, July 17 (AP)—A Russian tank division rumbled back into East Berlin today as a dangerous new wave of anti-Communist strikes marked the first monthly anniversary of the June 17 workers rebellion in East Germany.

The columns of Soviet tanks, troops and armored cars stamped and rumbled ostentatiously before dawn through Stalin Allee, a riot focus a month ago. The Russians poured into East Berlin from the southeast, the east and the north.

Soviet martial law, proclaimed at the June 17 outbreak, was lifted in East Berlin only last Saturday night. The last of the 25,000 Russian armored troops who put down the rebellion withdrew at that time.

It could not be confirmed immediately whether the Soviet forces had also gone back into other East German cities where martial law ended last weekend.

Rubber Plant Paralyzed

At Merseburg, near Halle, a Soviet-owned Buna synthetic rubber plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers demanding release of comrades jailed after the June 17 rebellion.

An anti-government slowdown has been under way at the Zeiss optical works at Jena since Tuesday. Zeiss employes walked out last Saturday but were forced back on the job Tuesday when the local Russian commander threatened to "shoot every tenth striker." The new Russian march into East Berlin apparently was intended to prevent such strikes from spreading to the east zone capital.

In East Berlin 82 tanks were counted by German eyewitnesses on Stalin Allee in the first hour of the march.

Thirty-eight truckloads of armored infantry followed the tanks through the troubled housing project center.

Then came armored cars, armored troop carriers, ambulances, trucks carrying munitions, food and fuel.

Ellenville Probe Begun Into Blaze

Arson Possibility Checked in Fire Destroying $12,000 House

Ellenville area authorities have begun an investigation to learn the cause of a blaze that badly damaged a Greenfield road home early Thursday morning.

Indicating that they are checking the possibility of arson, state police said this morning that no arrest has been made and no conclusion has been reached. Investigation by Sgt. William Martin of the state police, Patrolman Leo Gordon of Ellenville village police and Ellenville Fire Chief George Tremper is continuing.

The fire, discovered about 5:50 a. m. Thursday, burned down approximately one-half of the dwelling owned by Leonard Reider about two miles from the village, Chief Tremper said yesterday. State police indicated that the home, in approximately the $12,000 class, probably is a total loss financially.

When firemen arrived at the scene, they feared that Mrs. Vera Reider, 28, and her 20-month-old daughter might be trapped inside. It was discovered later, however, that no one was at home at the time.

Offices Are Raided

Sydney, Australia, July 17 (AP)—More than 40 plainclothesmen raided Communist offices in Sydney today. They seized files and documents in what government officials said was a search for evidence of dock strike conspiracies and efforts to frustrate the arbitration court's conduct of union voting.

Session Is Held

Rome, July 17 (AP)—Italy's new cabinet, the eighth formed by Premier Alcide De Gasperi, held its first session today and approved the budget it will present to Parliament next week. The cabinet also selected its undersecretaries, cutting their number from the 36 of the last government to 30. Most are reappointees.

Rogers Complaints Balked by Wrong Dates on Papers

Deaths of Hummels Bring Murder Action in Bayonne; Hearing Due Today

Jersey City, N. J., July 17 (AP)—Revised murder complaints were lodged today against a radio repairman who once was hailed as a hero in the Morro Castle ship disaster in 1934.

Hudson county Judge August Ziegener dismissed an application for writ of habeas corpus bought for George W. Rogers, 50-year-old television and radio repairman. Rogers was booked on two murder charges in the death of William M. Hummel, 83, a retired painter, and his spinster daughter, Edith, 58.

Rogers was returned to the Bayonne city jail to await a hearing Monday before Magistrate Daniel J. Murray.

Assistant prosecutor Raymond J. Cuddy said the case probably would be presented to a grand jury in September.

Wrong Dates Given

Bayonne, N. J., July 17 (AP)—The wrong date on two murder complaints against a radio repairman who once was hailed as a hero forced authorities to go through the whole legal procedure again today.

George W. Rogers, 50, moonfaced television and radio repairman, yesterday was booked on two charges of murder in the death of William M. Hummel, 83, a retired painter, and his spinster daughter, Edith, 58.

But when Detective Capt. Louis Smith and defense attorneys went before Hudson County Judge August Ziegener to argue habeas corpus proceedings designed to bring about Rogers' temporary release from custody, Ziegener noticed the complaints were dated June 16 instead of July 16.

Defense Attorney Maurice A. Cohen objected to any amendment of the complaints. Ziegner suggested new complaints be signed before Bayonne Magistrate Daniel J. Murray and postponed the habeas corpus hearing until today.

Was Acclaimed Hero

Rogers, acclaimed a hero of the 1934 Morro Castle ship disaster when he stuck to his radio post sending SOS signals, first was arrested as a material witness in the double killing.

He was picked up after police learned he was the last person known to have seen the Hummels alive. Rogers, police said, drove Hummel to a bank where the old man withdrew $2,400 for a trip to Florida. That was a few days before the Hummels' battered bodies were discovered in their home at 582 Avenue E July 1. The money has not been located.

Discovery of the bodies came after relatives in Kingston, N. Y., where they were to have gone on a visit, inquired as to their whereabouts when they failed to arrive.

UN Negotiators Meet With General Clark

Democrats Might Choose Between 2 As Mayor Nominee

Reis or Koenig Might Be Chosen, With Carroll or Howard in Second Spot

Democratic candidates for county and city offices will be recommended at the party's unofficial county and city conventions to be held Monday night at the court house in Kingston.

With the convention just three days away, there was little indication in Democratic circles today as to the possible contenders for the nominations. Most of the interest centers upon the nomination for mayor of the city of Kingston.

Leader Is Silent

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman has remained silent on the topic of possible candidates.

The Democratic party holds both city and county conventions on the same evening. The county convention is slated to be called to order at 8 p. m. to recommend candidates for member of assembly to fill a vacancy, sheriff, coroner for a full term and coroner to fill a vacancy.

Immediately following adjournment of the county convention, city delegates will meet to make their recommendations for city candidates for the office of mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge.

The city delegates act in both city and county conventions.

The slate recommended at the convention is presented to the enrolled voters at the primary election for approval, after which it becomes, if adopted, the official Democratic slate for the November election.

The Republican party at its unofficial county convention last Saturday recommended Kenneth L. Wilson for member of assembly, Cluett Schantz for re-election as sheriff, Michael A. Galietta for re-election as coroner, and Francis J. McCardle as candidate for the unexpired term of the late Coroner Ernest A. Kelly. Republican city delegates on Monday recommended Frederick H. Stang for mayor, Raymond J. Mino for re-election as city judge and Joseph Kelly for re-election as alderman-at-large.

There have been no public announcements by potential Democratic nomination-seekers, and no indication by party leaders to this date which would give a hint as to what names will be presented to Monday night's convention.

Reis, Koenig Mentioned

Street rumor the past two days has frequently associated the names of Frank Reis and Joseph Koenig with the candidacy for the mayoralty. Other names, however, have been mentioned, including those of Raymond Garraghan and Raymond McAndrew. Two names heard as possible Democratic contenders for alderman-at-large were those of James J. Carroll, 10th Ward supervisor and former alderman, and Russell Howard.

Ward caucuses are being held this week, at dates set individually by the Democratic committeemen, to select delegates for the convention and to recommend nominees for supervisor and alderman.

Official reports of the caucus results are not expected to be received by William Kelly, Democratic party secretary, until immediately prior to the convention.

Communists Expected to Give Answer About Signing Armistice

Munsan, July 17 (AP)—Gen Mark Clark huddled for three hours with UN truce negotiators today in advance of a showdown meeting tomorrow afternoon at which the Communist high command is expected to answer an allied demand for a quick Korean armistice.

There was no hint of what was discussed during the secret eleventh-hour conference, but sources said there was no question but what the UN commander and his negotiating team mapped strategy for the crucial session at Panmunjom tomorroow.

The top-level delegations are to meet at 2 p. m. (midnight today EST.)

Clark told newsmen before flying back to his Tokyo headquarters that he talked over the truce situation with the UN delegation, led by Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison. He refused to discuss details.

In Recess Today

The negotiations were in recess Friday. The Reds asked for a one-day recess Thursday after the UN delivered what Washington sources called a firm demand that the Reds agree immediately to steps leading to a prompt armistice.

Informed quarters have said efforts to agree on final details of a truce were stalemated by Red demands for the recapture of 27,000 anti-Communist Korean war prisoners liberated last month and iron-clad guarantees that South Korea will honor a truce.

Harrison was said to have told the Reds:

1. The UN will not meet their demands for the recapture of the prisoners freed on orders of President Syngman Rhee.

2. The UN has given adequate assurances that South Korea will abide by a truce.

3. There no longer is any reason why the Communists should delay signing an armistice.

Promised in Writing

President Eisenhower's truce envoy, back in Washington after more than two weeks of conferences aimed at winning Rhee over to a truce, reportedly told Congress Thursday the South Korean President promised in writing to co-operate in an armistice.

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, the truce emissary, also was represented as saying he thinks the Communists really want a cease-fire and will sign a truce agreement soon.

Robertson met separately with Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees Thursday. He reports to the nation by radio (MBS, CBS, ABC) and television (CBS, NBC) at 9:30 p. m EST today.

Clark told newsmen he had "nothing to say" when asked about prospects for a truce signing.

To Remain Secret

The UN commander said all meetings at Panmunjom will remain secret and "regardless of

ROKs Stage Successful Assaults

Heavy Losses Inflicted on Chinese, Taylor Says; UN Units Are Regrouped

Seoul, July 17 (AP) — Fiercely counterattacking allied infantrymen — perhaps including Americans—whittled down Red gains of up to seven miles on the flaming central front today in what Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor called "the first resumption of open warfare in two years."

Latest reports cleared by censors said South Korean soldiers hit and overran about 1,500 Chinese Reds in the Kumsong river valley.

Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, disclosed that the Chinese Reds' massive 10-division offensive this week—mightiest in two years—flattened the allies' Kumsong bulge. This meant a UN withdrawal of up to seven miles and total Red gains of up to 60 square miles.

The 9th American Corps and 2nd Korean Corps were identified as manning the Kumsong river line — the first disclosure that U. S. infantrymen were in the area hit by the giant Red push.

Censorship Is Tight

Tight military censorship hid official mention of whether Americans were taking part in the big counterattacks.

Taylor said the front was stabilized "generally along an east west-line at the base of the former salient"—where the allies held a seven-mile northward bulge as a result of gains 20 months ago.

Dispatches cleared by censors meanwhile told of successful South Korean counterattacks at both sides of the front, backed by swarms of American and allied warplanes and thunderous artillery.

The ROK division which Thursday night smashed a Chinese attack aimed at the vital highway junction of Kumhwa, western anchor of the central front, was identified by Taylor as the 9th, heroes of savage fighting at White Horse Mountain last fall.

Friday the ROKs launched a daring counterattack and recaptured two outpost hills. Taylor said the South Koreans inflicted heavy losses on the Chinese.

Larger Gains Scored

Other South Koreans were officially reported to have scored even larger gains—more than a mile—on the Kumsong front to the east, where the Reds had advanced up to seven miles Monday and Tuesday.

Associated Press Correspondent Forrest Edwards called the Kumsong counterattack the biggest allied advance since late autumn, 1951.

Taylor said UN units recovered rapidly from blows of the Chinese offensive, which he estimated at a strength of 10 divisions—80,000 to 100,000 troops.

"Commanders have regrouped their units and have pressed back

Princess Gives No Signs Of Concern Over Romance

London, July 17 (AP)—Smiling and seemingly carefree, Princess Margaret came home today to a Britain buzzing with fussing about her latest romance and lacking the presence of her reported boy friend.

The man in the story, divorced RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, went to Brussels two days ago as the new air attache at the British embassy there. Many Britons think he was exiled from his post as a palace aide because the 22-year-old Princess reportedly wants to marry him.

But if his absence or the talk about them bothered the Princess, there was no outward sign of it on her pretty face as she and Queen Mother Elizabeth arrived at London airport by Comet Jet airline after a 16-day tour of Rhodesia.

During their stay there for the 100th anniversary of Cecil Rhodes' birth, the press and public controversy over Margaret's reported affection for the 38-year-old Townsend burst into full flower at home and over the commonwealth.

Margaret quickly set at rest any apprehension that she might be embarrassed by the stories being told about her. She faced the 2,000 Londoners behind the airport railing with utmost poise and confidence.

Dressed in pink, she stood under a silver wing of the sleek airliner and waved gaily at the crowd.

Dinner and Entertainment Attract 500 County 'Vols'

Approximately 500 men from 65 companies and associations took part in the opening of the 18th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, Thursday night, and more are ready to attend tonight's business session and election of officers preceding the parade and other festivities on Saturday, according to Secretary Fred Harder.

Almost 300 had dinner in St. James Methodist Church, then went to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, where a seven-act stage show was presented for the 500 volunteers, who were welcomed to the city by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Newkirk praised the work of the volunteer firemen and said he was pleased to have them at the auditorium. Other speakers were Percy Bush, president of the Ulster county association; Millard Davis, convention chairman, and Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson, county fire coordinator.

Tonight's business session at 8 o'clock will be held in the engine-house of Ulster Hose Company, host organization, where officers are to be elected for the ensuing year, and next year's convention site chosen. There will be refreshments and entertainment at 10 p. m.

President Percy Bush, supervisor of the Town of Ulster, as well as president of the volunteers, will preside over tonight's session.

To Honor Nine Men

During the program there will be a memorial service for volunteers who died during the year: William J. Wright, Saugerties Exempt Association; Fred Becker, Hasbrouck Engine Company; Fred Scholl, Weiner Hose Company; Harvey Rappelyea, Ulster Hose Company; Leonard Albert, Tillson Fire Department; William B. Martin, Excelsoir Hose Company; Ernest A. Kelly and Jay Rifenbary and Charles Young, A. H. Wicks Hose Company.

According to Ernest Petersen, parade chairman, and Martin J. Petersen, assistant chairman, the parade will form on the grounds of the New York State Armory, off Manor avenue, Saturday at 1:30 p. m., when the fire alarm will be sounded. The alarm will be sounded again at 2 p. m. for the start of the parade.

Formation Data

First and second divisions of the parade will form on the Manor avenue side of the armory. The third division will form in the rear, and the fourth and fifth will form on the Roosevelt avenue side.

The parade will leave from the

Arson Possibility Checked in Fire Destroying $12,000 House

Ellenville area authorities have begun an investigation to learn the cause of a blaze that badly damaged a Greenfield road home early Thursday morning.

Indicating that they are checking the possibility of arson, state police said this morning that no arrest has been made and no conclusion has been reached. Investigation by Sgt. William Martin of the state police, Patrolman Leo Gordon of Ellenville village police and Ellenville Fire Chief George Tremper is continuing.

The fire, discovered about 5:50 a. m. Thursday, burned down approximately one-half of the dwelling owned by Leonard Reider about two miles from the village, Chief Tremper said yesterday. State police indicated that the home, in approximately the $12,000 class, probably is a total loss financially.

When firemen arrived at the scene, they feared that Mrs. Vera Reider, 28, and her 20-month-old daughter might be trapped inside. It was discovered later, however, that no one was at home at the time.

Offices Are Raided

Sydney, Australia, July 17 (AP)—More than 40 plainclothesmen raided Communist offices in Sydney today. They seized files and documents in what government officials said was a search for evidence of dock strike conspiracies and efforts to frustrate the arbitration court's conduct of union voting.

Session Is Held

Rome, July 17 (AP)—Italy's new cabinet, the eighth formed by Premier Alcide De Gasperi, held its first session today and approved the budget it will present to Parliament next week. The cabinet also selected its undersecretaries, cutting their number from the 36 of the last government to 30. Most are reappointees.

Troops, Armored Autos Patrol Stalin Allee, Riot Focus of June 17

Berlin, July 17 (AP)—A Russian tank division rumbled back into East Berlin today as a dangerous new wave of anti-Communist strikes marked the first monthly anniversary of the June 17 workers rebellion in East Germany.

The columns of Soviet tanks, troops and armored cars stamped and rumbled ostentatiously before dawn through Stalin Allee, a riot focus a month ago. The Russians poured into East Berlin from the southeast, the east and the north.

Soviet martial law, proclaimed at the June 17 outbreak, was lifted in East Berlin only last Saturday night. The last of the 25,000 Russian armored troops who put down the rebellion withdrew at that time.

It could not be confirmed immediately whether the Soviet forces had also gone back into other East German cities where martial law ended last weekend.

Rubber Plant Paralyzed

At Merseburg, near Halle, a Soviet-owned Buna synthetic rubber plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers demanding release of comrades jailed after the June 17 rebellion.

An anti-government slowdown has been under way at the Zeiss optical works at Jena since Tuesday. Zeiss employes walked out last Saturday but were forced back on the job Tuesday when the local Russian commander threatened to "shoot every tenth striker." The new Russian march into East Berlin apparently was intended to prevent such strikes from spreading to the east zone capital.

In East Berlin 82 tanks were counted by German eyewitnesses on Stalin Allee in the first hour of the march.

Thirty-eight truckloads of armored infantry followed the tanks through the troubled housing project center.

Then came armored cars, armored troop carriers, ambulances, trucks carrying munitions, food and fuel.

Rogers Complaints Balked by Wrong Dates on Papers

Deaths of Hummels Bring Murder Action in Bayonne; Hearing Due Today

Jersey City, N. J., July 17 (AP)—Revised murder complaints were lodged today against a radio repairman who once was hailed as a hero in the Morro Castle ship disaster in 1934.

Hudson county Judge August Ziegener dismissed an application for writ of habeas corpus bought for George W. Rogers, 50-year-old television and radio repairman. Rogers was booked on two murder charges in the death of William M. Hummel, 83, a retired painter, and his spinster daughter, Edith, 58.

Rogers was returned to the Bayonne city jail to await a hearing Monday before Magistrate Daniel J. Murray.

Assistant prosecutor Raymond J. Cuddy said the case probably would be presented to a grand jury in September.

Wrong Dates Given

Bayonne, N. J., July 17 (AP)—The wrong date on two murder complaints against a radio repairman who once was hailed as a hero forced authorities to go through the whole legal procedure again today.

George W. Rogers, 50, moon-faced television and radio repairman, yesterday was booked on two charges of murder in the death of William M. Hummel, 83, a retired painter, and his spinster daughter, Edith, 58.

But when Detective Capt. Louis Smith and defense attorneys went before Hudson County Judge August Ziegener to argue habeas corpus proceedings designed to bring about Rogers' temporary release from custody, Ziegener noticed the complaints were dated June 16 instead of July 16.

Defense Attorney Maurice A. Cohen objected to any amendment of the complaints. Ziegner suggested new complaints be signed before Bayonne Magistrate Daniel J. Murray and postponed the habeas corpus hearing until today.

Was Acclaimed Hero

Rogers, acclaimed a hero of the 1934 Morro Castle ship disaster when he stuck to his radio post sending SOS signals, first was arrested as a material witness in the double killing.

He was picked up after police learned he was the last person known to have seen the Hummels alive. Rogers, police said, drove Hummel to a bank where the old man withdrew $2,400 for a trip to Florida. That was a few days before the Hummels' battered bodies were discovered in their home at 582 Avenue E July 1. The money has not been located.

Discovery of the bodies came after relatives in Kingston, N. Y., where they were to have gone on a visit, inquired as to their whereabouts when they failed to arrive.

Miss Illinois, a blonde from Chicago, poses after her selection July 15, as Miss United States at Long Beach, Calif. She is Myrna Hansen. Princess Gives No Signs Of Concern Over Romance

London, July 17 (AP)—Smiling and seemingly carefree, Princess Margaret came home today to a Britain buzzing with fussing about her latest romance and lacking the presence of her reported boy friend.

The man in the story, divorced RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, went to Brussels two days ago as the new air attache at the British embassy there. Many Britons think he was exiled from his post as a palace aide because the 22-year-old Princess reportedly wants to marry him.

But if his absence or the talk about them bothered the Princess, there was no outward sign of it on her pretty face as she and Queen Mother Elizabeth arrived at London airport by Comet Jet airline after a 16-day tour of Rhodesia.

During their stay there for the 100th anniversary of Cecil Rhodes' birth, the press and public controversy over Margaret's reported affection for the 38-year-old Townsend burst into full flower at home and over the commonwealth.

Margaret quickly set at rest any apprehension that she might be embarrassed by the stories being told about her. She faced the 2,000 Londoners behind the airport railing with utmost poise and confidence.

Dressed in pink, she stood under a silver wing of the sleek airliner and waved gaily at the crowd.

UN Negotiators Meet With General Clark

Democrats Might Choose Between 2 As Mayor Nominee

Reis or Koenig Might Be Chosen, With Carroll or Howard in Second Spot

Democratic candidates for county and city offices will be recommended at the party's unofficial county and city conventions to be held Monday night at the court house in Kingston.

With the convention just three days away, there was little indication in Democratic circles today as to the possible contenders for the nominations. Most of the interest centers upon the nomination for mayor of the city of Kingston.

Leader Is Silent

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman has remained silent on the topic of possible candidates.

The Democratic party holds both city and county conventions on the same evening. The county convention is slated to be called to order at 8 p. m. to recommend candidates for member of assembly to fill a vacancy, sheriff, coroner for a full term and coroner to fill a vacancy.

Immediately following adjournment of the county convention, city delegates will meet to make their recommendations for city candidates for the office of mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge.

The city delegates act in both city and county conventions.

The slate recommended at the convention is presented to the enrolled voters at the primary election for approval, after which it becomes, if adopted, the official Democratic slate for the November election.

The Republican party at its unofficial county convention last Saturday recommended Kenneth L. Wilson for member of assembly, Cluett Schantz for re-election as sheriff, Michael A. Galietta for re-election as coroner, and Francis J. McCardle as candidate for the unexpired term of the late Coroner Ernest A. Kelly. Republican city delegates on Monday recommended Frederick H. Stang for mayor, Raymond J. Mino for re-election as city judge and Joseph Kelly for re-election as alderman-at-large.

There have been no public announcements by potential Democratic nomination-seekers, and no indication by party leaders to this date which would give a hint as to what names will be presented to Monday night's convention.

Reis, Koenig Mentioned

Street rumor the past two days has frequently associated the names of Frank Reis and Joseph Koenig with the candidacy for the mayoralty. Other names, however, have been mentioned, including those of Raymond Garraghan and Raymond McAndrew. Two names heard as possible Democratic contenders for alderman-at-large were those of James J. Carroll, 10th Ward supervisor and former alderman, and Russell Howard.

Ward caucuses are being held this week, at dates set individually by the Democratic committeemen, to select delegates for the convention and to recommend nominees for supervisor and alderman.

Official reports of the caucus results are not expected to be received by William Kelly, Democratic party secretary, until immediately prior to the convention.

Communists Expected to Give Answer About Signing Armistice

Munsan, July 17 (AP)—Gen Mark Clark huddled for three hours with UN truce negotiators today in advance of a showdown meeting tomorrow afternoon at which the Communist high command is expected to answer an allied demand for a quick Korean armistice.

There was no hint of what was discussed during the secret eleventh-hour conference, but sources said there was no question but what the UN commander and his negotiating team mapped strategy for the crucial session at Panmunjom tomorroow.

The top-level delegations are to meet at 2 p. m. (midnight today EST.)

Clark told newsmen before flying back to his Tokyo headquarters that he talked over the truce situation with the UN delegation, led by Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison. He refused to discuss details.

In Recess Today

The negotiations were in recess Friday. The Reds asked for a one-day recess Thursday after the UN delivered what Washington sources called a firm demand that the Reds agree immediately to steps leading to a prompt armistice.

Informed quarters have said efforts to agree on final details of a truce were stalemated by Red demands for the recapture of 27,000 anti-Communist Korean war prisoners liberated last month and iron-clad guarantees that South Korea will honor a truce.

Harrison was said to have told the Reds:

1. The UN will not meet their demands for the recapture of the prisoners freed on orders of President Syngman Rhee.

2. The UN has given adequate assurances that South Korea will abide by a truce.

3. There no longer is any reason why the Communists should delay signing an armistice.

Promised in Writing

President Eisenhower's truce envoy, back in Washington after more than two weeks of conferences aimed at winning Rhee over to a truce, reportedly told Congress Thursday the South Korean President promised in writing to co-operate in an armistice.

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, the truce emissary, also was represented as saying he thinks the Communists really want a cease-fire and will sign a truce agreement soon.

Robertson met separately with Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committees Thursday. He reports to the nation by radio (MBS, CBS, ABC) and television (CBS, NBC) at 9:30 p. m EST today.

Clark told newsmen he had "nothing to say" when asked about prospects for a truce signing.

To Remain Secret

The UN commander said all meetings at Panmunjom will remain secret and "regardless of

ROKs Stage Successful Assaults

Heavy Losses Inflicted on Chinese, Taylor Says; UN Units Are Regrouped

Seoul, July 17 (AP) — Fiercely counterattacking allied infantrymen — perhaps including Americans—whittled down Red gains of up to seven miles on the flaming central front today in what Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor called "the first resumption of open warfare in two years."

Latest reports cleared by censors said South Korean soldiers hit and overran about 1,500 Chinese Reds in the Kumsong river valley.

Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, disclosed that the Chinese Reds' massive 10-division offensive this week—mightiest in two years—flattened the allies' Kumsong bulge. This meant a UN withdrawal of up to seven miles and total Red gains of up to 60 square miles.

The 9th American Corps and 2nd Korean Corps were identified as manning the Kumsong river line — the first disclosure that U. S. infantrymen were in the area hit by the giant Red push.

Censorship Is Tight

Tight military censorship hid official mention of whether Americans were taking part in the big counterattacks.

Taylor said the front was stabilized "generally along an east west-line at the base of the former salient"—where the allies held a seven-mile northward bulge as a result of gains 20 months ago.

Dispatches cleared by censors meanwhile told of successful South Korean counterattacks at both sides of the front, backed by swarms of American and allied warplanes and thunderous artillery.

The ROK division which Thursday night smashed a Chinese attack aimed at the vital highway junction of Kumhwa, western anchor of the central front, was identified by Taylor as the 9th, heroes of savage fighting at White Horse Mountain last fall.

Friday the ROKs launched a daring counterattack and recaptured two outpost hills. Taylor said the South Koreans inflicted heavy losses on the Chinese.

Larger Gains Scored

Other South Koreans were officially reported to have scored even larger gains—more than a mile—on the Kumsong front to the east, where the Reds had advanced up to seven miles Monday and Tuesday.

Associated Press Correspondent Forrest Edwards called the Kumsong counterattack the biggest allied advance since late autumn, 1951.

Taylor said UN units recovered rapidly from blows of the Chinese offensive, which he estimated at a strength of 10 divisions—80,000 to 100,000 troops.

"Commanders have regrouped their units and have pressed back

Dinner and Entertainment Attract 500 County 'Vols'

Approximately 500 men from 65 companies and associations took part in the opening of the 18th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, Thursday night, and more are ready to attend tonight's business session and election of officers preceding the parade and other festivities on Saturday, according to Secretary Fred Harder.

Almost 300 had dinner in St. James Methodist Church, then went to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, where a seven-act stage show was presented for the 500 volunteers, who were welcomed to the city by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

Newkirk praised the work of the volunteer firemen and said he was pleased to have them at the auditorium. Other speakers were Percy Bush, president of the Ulster county association; Millard Davis, convention chairman, and Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson, county fire coordinator.

Tonight's business session at 8 o'clock will be held in the enginehouse of Ulster Hose Company, host organization, where officers are to be elected for the ensuing year, and next year's convention site chosen. There will be refreshments and entertainment at 10 p. m.

President Percy Bush, supervisor of the Town of Ulster, as well as president of the volunteers, will preside over tonight's session.

According to Ernest Petersen, parade chairman, and Martin J. Petersen, assistant chairman, the parade will form on the grounds of the New York State Armory, off Manor avenue, Saturday at 1:30 p. m., when the fire alarm will be sounded. The alarm will be sounded again at 2 p. m. for the start of the parade.

Jamboree Notes

By RICHARD CONSTANT

(Two more reports from Richard Constant, a member of Rip Van Winkle Council, cover the local Scouts on a trip through Portland, Ore., and into California. Scout Constant made the trip to the national jamboree in Santa Ana, Calif., under the sponsorship of The Kingston Daily Freeman. The jamboree is scheduled to open today at the west coast city).

July 14, 1953

Portland at last. It was a great day for the boys with a tour covering many interesting places.

The journey was started after breakfast at the Multnomah Hotel, the most exclusive in Portland. While in the city they passed through the corner with the most lights in the world and the world's outstanding memorial to universal motherhood, The Sanctuary of Our Sorrowful Mother. It contained many beautiful carvings and statues of the life and crucifixion of Jesus in a natural setting.

After leaving Portland the Scouts traveled the Oregon Trail where the Lewis and Clark expedition went along the Columbia river. Further down the trail we sighted the second highest falls in the United States, Mulnomah Falls, which is 620 feet high, and many smaller falls including Horse Tail Falls. Later we reached Boonesville Dam and visited the Oregon fishery. At the dam we watched the fish go up the fish ladder and the large generator plant. On the way back they stopped at a camp and had fresh Chinook Salmon for lunch. During the afternoon the fellows had free time in Portland.

Now a chance for rest as we journey to San Francisco.

Today the Scouts rested. Practically the whole day was spent in rest and quiet recreation.

The day was started with breakfast at the Klamath Falls High School. For the rest of the day we traveled through the scenic Sierra Nevadas where the train had to go 10 miles in order to go one.

During the day the patrols met and made up patrol calls, yells and songs, while George Acker and Fred Burnette figured out troop calls.

At the end of the day we had a Elk steak dinner in Orville, Calif., where also the boys were thrilled by the native palm and orange trees. After supper we toured the city and visited the Pioneer Relics Building of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West and an old Chinese Temple.

Tomorrow, San Francisco.

Desmond Proposes U. S. Follow State

Albany, July 17 (AP) — The federal government should follow New York's example and set aside 5 per cent of housing-project vacancies for elderly persons, a state senator says.

Federal policy limits housing projects to families.

Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, said yesterday that such a policy barred many elderly widows, widowers, spinsters and bachelors from low-income quarters.

"The aged . . . want housing that enables them to watch baby carriages go by," Desmond said. "They want to live independently of, but near their children."

Desmond is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on problems of the aging."

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 17 (AP)—A quietly higher movement in the stock market today matched the dull actions of the past two sessions.

Gains going to around a point were the best that could be mustered. Losses seldom got out of the small fractional range.

Railroads did well on the upside, and the steels were favored by buying in a moderate way. One or two chemicals exhibited some activity at higher prices. Otherwise the market held steady.

General Electric traded unchanged to a shade lower with its brilliant earnings report in the background. First half profits of the company were up 32 per cent over a year ago—$2.61 a share as against $1.98 a year ago.

Higher stocks included U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Consolidated Natural Gas, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, New Haven Railroad, Sinclair Oil, duPont, Dow Chemical, United Aircraft, and Amerada Petroleum (up 3 points at times).

Russian Tanks

ing their green steel helmets, were equipped with a full field kit.

East German army officers acted as road guides for the Russian division.

The East German Communists warned ominously that "fascist nests" exist in their strategic industries. They proclaimed, in effect, a terror campaign against pro-western socialists in the 1,700,000-member Communist party and against influential non-Communists in the Soviet zone's labor force.

Though the party mouthpiece Neues Deutschland sneered at the June rebellion as a "fiasco," it asserted East German labor is shot through with "former Fascist officials, functionaries and employes of the Nazi state, former businessmen, entrepreneurs, etc."

The party organ blast followed an announcement last night by Hermann Axen, cadre chief of the party, who said the Communist "central committee will investigate rigorously in the next few days how everyone (in the government and party) has fulfilled his task for the working class and draw stern conclusions."

Sabre Jet Zooms

flown swifter than the Sabre over the sustained conditions imposed by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The plane must make four passes over the course, two in each direction to offset wind effect. The craft also must stay below 500 meters (1,640 feet) at all times after takeoff and below 100 meters (328 feet) while over the course.

Mrs. Barns, a willowy blonde from Hot Springs, Ark., stood in the warm sun nervously twisting a handkerchief as her husband raced by.

Meanwhile an EW F94C Starfire jet fighter sped yesterday from Burbank to Hamilton Air Force Base at an average of 670 MPH. The air force thereupon claimed a new Los Angeles-San Francisco air speed record.

The jet, with Capt. Craig Keller, 30, San Carlos, Calif., at the controls, covered the distance in exactly 29 minutes from Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank.

The previous record for the 324 mile flight—33 minutes—was set by an air force F80 Shooting Star jet fighter in 1950.

Jamboree Notes

By RICHARD CONSTANT

(Two more reports from Richard Constant, a member of Rip Van Winkle Council, cover the local Scouts on a trip through Portland, Ore., and into California. Scout Constant made the trip to the national jamboree in Santa Ana, Calif., under the sponsorship of The Kingston Daily Freeman. The jamboree is scheduled to open today at the west coast city).

July 14, 1953

Portland at last. It was a great day for the boys with a tour covering many interesting places.

The journey was started after breakfast at the Multnomah Hotel, the most exclusive in Portland. While in the city they passed through the corner with the most lights in the world and the world's outstanding memorial to universal motherhood, The Sanctuary of Our Sorrowful Mother. It contained many beautiful carvings and statues of the life and crucifixion of Jesus in a natural setting.

After leaving Portland the Scouts traveled the Oregon Trail where the Lewis and Clark expedition went along the Columbia river. Further down the trail we sighted the second highest falls in the United States, Mulnomah Falls, which is 620 feet high, and many smaller falls including Horse Tail Falls. Later we reached Boonesville Dam and visited the Oregon fishery. At the dam we watched the fish go up the fish ladder and the large generator plant. On the way back they stopped at a camp and had fresh Chinook Salmon for lunch. During the afternoon the fellows had free time in Portland.

Now a chance for rest as we journey to San Francisco.

Today the Scouts rested. Practically the whole day was spent in rest and quiet recreation.

The day was started with breakfast at the Klamath Falls High School. For the rest of the day we traveled through the scenic Sierra Nevadas where the train had to go 10 miles in order to go one.

During the day the patrols met and made up patrol calls, yells and songs, while George Acker and Fred Burnette figured out troop calls.

At the end of the day we had a Elk steak dinner in Orville, Calif., where also the boys were thrilled by the native palm and orange trees. After supper we toured the city and visited the Pioneer Relics Building of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West and an old Chinese Temple.

Tomorrow, San Francisco.

Desmond Proposes U. S. Follow State

Albany, July 17 (AP) — The federal government should follow New York's example and set aside 5 per cent of housing-project vacancies for elderly persons, a state senator says.

Federal policy limits housing projects to families.

Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, said yesterday that such a policy barred many elderly widows, widowers, spinsters and bachelors from low-income quarters.

"The aged . . . want housing that enables them to watch baby carriages go by," Desmond said. "They want to live independently of, but near their children."

Desmond is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on problems of the aging."

Russian Tanks

ing their green steel helmets, were equipped with a full field kit.

East German army officers acted as road guides for the Russian division.

The East German Communists warned ominously that "fascist nests" exist in their strategic industries. They proclaimed, in effect, a terror campaign against pro-western socialists in the 1,700,000-member Communist party and against influential non-Communists in the Soviet zone's labor force.

Though the party mouthpiece Neues Deutschland sneered at the June rebellion as a "fiasco," it asserted East German labor is shot through with "former Fascist officials, functionaries and employes of the Nazi state, former businessmen, entrepreneurs, etc."

The party organ blast followed an announcement last night by Hermann Axen, cadre chief of the party, who said the Communist "central committee will investigate rigorously in the next few days how everyone (in the government and party) has fulfilled his task for the working class and draw stern conclusions."

Sabre Jet Zooms

flown swifter than the Sabre over the sustained conditions imposed by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. The plane must make four passes over the course, two in each direction to offset wind effect. The craft also must stay below 500 meters (1,640 feet) at all times after takeoff and below 100 meters (328 feet) while over the course.

Mrs. Barns, a willowy blonde from Hot Springs, Ark., stood in the warm sun nervously twisting a handkerchief as her husband raced by.

Meanwhile an EW F94C Starfire jet fighter sped yesterday from Burbank to Hamilton Air Force Base at an average of 670 MPH. The air force thereupon claimed a new Los Angeles-San Francisco air speed record.

The jet, with Capt. Craig Keller, 30, San Carlos, Calif., at the controls, covered the distance in exactly 29 minutes from Lockheed Air Terminal, Burbank.

The previous record for the 324 mile flight—33 minutes—was set by an air force F80 Shooting Star jet fighter in 1950.

HOGAN A REAL PROFESSIONAL

A lot of words have been written recently, and a lot more are going to be written, about a fellow named Ben Hogan, who plays golf for a living.

The reason for all the prose is that just this summer, at the not-so-tender age of 40, the jut-jawed little Texan emerged as probably the best man at his trade the world has ever seen. And by trade, we mean trade. Long ago golf, for Hogan, became more than just a game, which is why he's so good at it.

Just how good he is was shown this month when he packed the tools of his trade—beautiful precision-made instruments of shiny steel and leather and persimmon wood—into a long, round leather bag and betook himself to Carnoustie, Scotland, to turn out a job of work before the critical eyes of the fathers of the game in one of the world's great competitions, the British Open.

In a manner brilliant, if it weren't so methodical, Hogan went to work and took famed old Carnoustie apart. Toiling in high wind, rain, and hail which make Carnoustie both famous and fearsome, Hogan not only won the British Open but he broke the tournament record for the course by eight strokes.

Hogan's triumph at Carnoustie came after he had already won this year the other two top tournaments of golf, the U. S. Open and the Masters. And as at Carnoustie, he set new records in both. It was the fourth time he'd won the U. S. Open, top tourney in golf.

Hogan got where he is by a single-minded devotion to his trade that is the mark of a champion in any line—doctor, die-maker, scientist or artist. As a result of amazing skills painfully acquired over the years, he has that extra something to put forth in the clutch which is the invariable quality of the champ.

His injured legs still aren't what they should be and when he's tired he begins to walk heavily on his heels. But even then the little figure in the white cap and button sweater, with an odd-looking black cigarette holder clamped in his teeth, walks like a champ who knows his business so well he doesn't have to worry.

He doesn't have to worry about money anymore. He's made a pile of it. But he's a guy in love with his work, and he'll keep working at it. The Hogans of the world just don't turn out a shoddy product.

A man who delayed his homecoming too long complained to police that his wife bit him on the arm. He didn't mind her scolding but apparently her bite was worse than her bark.

HONOR FOR MERCHANTS

Four giants of American merchandising, F. W. Woolworth, John Wannamaker, Marshall Field and George Huntington Hartford, have been named to places in the Merchants of America Hall of Fame. This Hall of Fame is a new idea, designed to honor men who have brought great advances in the field of distribution of merchandise. Heroic busts of the four will be placed in the plaza of the Merchandising Mart in Chicago. New busts will be added from time to time as new members are elected.

Marshall Field was the founder of the great Chicago department store that bears his name. He was one of the first to realize that the reputation of a merchant and the goodwill of his customers are important parts of any business. George Huntington Hartford was the founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company which has come to be known to housewives as the "A and P." Frank W. Woolworth was a pioneer in providing merchandise with the idea that a small percentage of profit and a large volume of business could pay dividends. John Wannamaker founded the first department store in the world which carried under one roof merchandise for all purposes for women as well as men.

Our high standard of living is as much dependent upon our system of distribution of goods and services as it is upon our amazing rate of production of those goods and services. It is well that tribute should be paid to the men who played such important roles in developing that distribution system.

The West German airline, Lufthansa, has ordered several Super-Constellations for long-range flights. Germany may not know where she is going but she is determined to get there in style.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE DOES FUNCTION

The only reason I am able to get out of the boiling city at all is that I can hire a teletypewriter from the telephone company. So I go to my farm and work from there—with a teletypewriter.

Recently I received a letter from a public relations firm in Washington, asking me to join in a complaint against the telephone company for raising teletypewriter rates. Having seen what has happened to many innocent persons who sign anything that is put before them, I have made it a rule to sign nothing, but if I want to join an organization or a group, I write my own ticket and sign it on my own stationery.

Life, as the poet said, plays its little tricks. This public relations firm's letter arrived just as my teletypewriter went geflooey. Within a reasonable time, an hour or so, a man was up here in the woods, working on the job, which turned out to be very complicated. The next day, six men were working on it. I cannot get a plumber or a carpenter up here under several weeks of daily telephoning and if the job is too difficult, I might never know how it is patched up, only to make another job for the future.

Therefore, I figure that I am getting my money's worth from the telephone company and all I want to be sure of is that they do not some day teli me that they cannot afford to operate this machine because the cost of keeping it in condition is too high.

Why is it that men are not sensible about this 53 cent dollar of ours? It is only worth 53 cents for a big company as for a private individual and if labor wants more money, and taxes, which are a cost of living, keep high or go up even higher, prices must go up. There can be no two ways about that.

In this public relations man's letter, he says to impress me:

"Our attorney was formerly an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission in the Common Carrier Division which had charge of the rates of the Bell System. He is familiar with the operations and accounting of the Bell System in its relation to TWX and similar services."

This is exactly wrong. Here is apparently an official who was paid by the people of the United States to develop expertness in a particular field, the expertness to be at the service of the American people. But in this instance, the expertness is sold to a public relations firm or its clients with the object of preventing an industry from raising its rates. I am asked to pay $20 toward this cause, $10 for each teletypewriter I use. I do not know how many persons use teletypewriters, but the number is large and if each sent in $10 per machine, it ought to provide a goodly sum for the public relations firm and its lawyer.

I own no stock in the telephone company or, for that matter, in any other. I would not benefit directly or indirectly by higher rates. But I also do not want the telephone company to begin to economize and cut services. For many years, I lived in countries where telephoning was a major event, involving long and irksome delays. Most Americans are so used to good service that they take it in their stride and think nothing of it. It is this amazing service that needs to be preserved and if it costs a few kopeks more each call (a kopek used to be half a cent, which is about what our penny is worth now), I am willing to pay it. When the telephone service goes down, I want to howl.

For one thing, I would like that famous "Girl With the Smile," who went to war or got married or something, to return to the switch-board. She was a delightful person, particularly on long-distance calls. She was never snappy and somehow she learned how to pronounce the most difficult names. This girl, you do not encounter as often as formerly. Nowadays, there is an efficient kind of switch-board gal who knocks your brains out at the slightest provocation.

Maybe it's the emanations from the atom bomb that made the change.

GETTING ON FEET EARLY AFTER HERNIA

It is fortunate that at a time when our hospitals are overcrowded, physicians and surgeons are finding that their patients, medical and surgical, recover in less time when put on their feet early after operations or treatment than when kept in bed too long.

One of the commonest defects requiring surgical operation is hernia or rupture, and for many years these patients were kept at absolute rest for weeks so that no relapse or break in tissues would occur.

In "American Surgeons," Atlanta, Ga., Drs. L. T. Palumbo and R. E. Paul report the effects of early ambulation (allowing patients to walk) on the recurrences and complication rates following repair of hernia or rupture. They studied 564 patients who had a total of 642 operations. These operations were performed by 18 surgeons using an identical method. The hernias were of all types. After operation, the patients were divided into three groups: 116 patients were not allowed to walk until 14 days after operation; 247 started walking on the 7th day; and 201 patients started walking on the first day. The recurrence rate (hernia did not hold) was 1.27 per cent; it was a little higher for those who had the bed rest for fourteen days as compared to those who got up the first day, and also higher than in those who remained in bed seven days.

The complication rate occurring after operation was much lower in those who got up on the first day of operation as compared with those who remained in bed the seven days and those who remained in bed fourteen days. Thus, in those who got up the first day, the rate of complication was 6.3 per cent; in those who remained in bed seven days, it was 9.2 per cent; and in those who remained in bed for fourteen days it was 17.6 per cent.

The reduction in the number of lung complications following operation was especially noticeable in those who got up the first day.

These figures certainly show that getting up the first day gives best results, a week in bed gives next best, and two weeks in bed gives the poorest results of all.

What does early ambulation mean to hospital accommodation? Drs. Palumbo and Paul state that this early rising after operation, first and seventh days, saved about 1,600 days of hospitalization, which, of course, means a great saving of expense to these patients and allows the hospital to accommodate that many more patients, some of whom may be seriously or even dangerously ill.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—If ever a meeting of Big Three foreign ministers was held in a vacuum, the July 10 Washington Conference of American, British and French diplomats is it. The vacuum consists of a complete lack of clarity on what the American foreign policy is, though the United States is now supposed to set the pace in the world rat race.

In his inaugural address, President Eisenhower declared that his administration would develop a clear, consistent and confident global foreign policy through genuine, continuous cooperation with Congress in the spirit of true bipartisanship.

The only trouble with this is that Congress hasn't cooperated.

The President called for these specific foreign policy moves in his inaugural address: Withdrawal of U. S. Seventh Fleet from the Straits of Formosa. Increased assistance to Korea. American foreign aid to be matched by greater effort abroad for European unity. Declaration against secret agreements (Yalta and Potsdam) that permitted the enslavement of foreign people. Extension of reciprocal trade agreements and simplification of customs procedure.

List of Accomplishments

Check off the list and see where it leaves you:

The President had the power to order the Seventh Fleet withdrawn and did it. The psychological purpose of this was to free the Chinese Nationalist forces to move on the Chinese mainland. But when the Viet-Minh rebels in Indo-China marched through Laos recently, no one made a move to have Chiang Kai-shek's forces create a diversionary attack against Red China.

Increased assistance to Korea is threatened by Republic of Korea's unwillingness to agree to truce terms without U. S. guarantees which the administration is unwilling to give.

Congress wants all foreign aid terminated as soon as possible. The British and French aren't going to like this at all.

When Congress tried to write into the Mutual Security law a mandatory cut in foreign aid unless the Europeans agreed to more unity, the White House had to backtrack and ask that this be left to presidential discretion.

The proposed declaration against enslavement of people by secret agreement died a-borning in Congress.

The trade agreements act has been extended for a year, but it settles nothing. The whole argument has merely been postponed.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a revised customs simplification plan. But in the rush to adjourn, it would be no surprise if action on this proposal were also delayed a year.

In fact, out of some 15 major foreign policy proposals which President Eisenhower has made to Congress since inauguration, only two have thus far been approved. They are the one-year extension of trade-agreements legislation and the grant of a million tons of wheat to Pakistan.

Other Proposals

Among other foreign policy proposals which the Congress has thus far refused to consider or failed to complete are:

Repeal the "Buy America" act. Establish a commission to re-examine foreign policy. Encourage the flow of private investment abroad. Receive from the rest of the world more raw materials in exchange for what the U. S. supplies them. Revise the immigration law. Admit 240,000 refugees during the next two years. Authorize the President to give away as foreign relief any U. S. farm surpluses.

Ambassador Dulles has been to Europe, the Middle East and India, but his tours have produced no apparent new policies, settled no old feuds. While liberation of captive people in the satellite countries was a great topic for Dulles campaign speeches, when the revolt came in East Germany, the only help it got from America was cheers.

President Eisenhower, in his foreign policy speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, did speel out plainly what he expected from Russia as proof of its peaceful intentions:

Have its Red Chinese and North Korean pals sign an honorable armistice and provide for free elections for a united Korea. End Communist attacks on Indo-China. Sign a peace treaty on Austria. Approve a free and united Germany. Provide for full independence of the east European nations.

This is almost the only solid foundation stone of foreign policy on which the meeting of foreign ministers has to build.

McCarthy Wins First Part of His Row With State Department Group

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 17—Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, Republican, seems to have won his main point in his skirmish with the International Information Administration of the Department of State about books in overseas libraries, though one would hardly guess it from a reading of most of the dispatches out of Washington.

An important part of the text of the State Department's directive of instructions to the custodians of its libraries overseas was not generally printed. The key point in the controversy has been whether there will be permitted on government library shelves books written by avowed Communists or by persons who—citing the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination—refuse to answer questions before congressional investigating committees. Here is the full text of the paragraph as issued by the Department of State on the afternoon of July 15:

"Works of avowed Communists, persons convicted of crimes involving a threat to the security of the United States, or persons who publicly refuse to answer questions of congressional committees regarding their connections with the Communist movement, shall not be used, even if their content is unobjectionable, unless it is determined that a particular item is clearly useful for the special purposes of the program. Application of this rule to authors who refuse to testify does not mean that they are presumed to be Communists or Communist sympathizers, but simply reflects the fact that such action by an author normally gives him a public reputation which raises serious questions as to the usefulness of his books in the program. This paragraph does not apply to anthologies, other compilations, and periodicals which only incidentally include material written by persons described above, if the writers included in the entire publication are predominantly non-Communist."

That's exactly what Senator McCarthy argued for when he said it was ridiculous to put on the shelves of government libraries abroad books by known Communists or by persons who refused to answer questions, claiming immunity under the Fifth Amendment.

The press instead played up some vague remarks in the lengthy statement issued on Wednesday of this week by the director of the International Information Administration decrying the attacks on the government libraries and its program of information abroad.

Unfortunately, there are some contradictions as between the words of the directive quoted above and the action reported by the International Information Administration as having been taken in one instance under the directive. For, after revealing that "the removal of all works of persons refusing to testify as to Communist affiliations" was ordered on April 23, 1953, and after noting also that on May 13 a message was sent giving specific names and ordering that no books be restored pending a re-examination, an exception was made in the case of Dashiell Hammett. The State Department's statement of July 15 says: "Instructions accompanying the new directive authorize restoration of books by Dashiell Hammett."

This action is inexplicable. It violates the State Department's own rule, because the author in question certainly now has a reputation not only for refusing to answer a congressional committee but for refusing to answer the questions of a court. He served a six-month sentence in jail, and the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed a lower court ruling which declared that his claim to immunity had no legal or factual basis. Hammett was chairman of a bail fund which provided bond money for Communists. When some of them, including Gerhard Eisler, escaped and the court wanted Hammett to identify the bail fund records and the minutes of his organization, he refused to do so on the ground that it would be self-incriminating.

It so happens that Hammett writes detective stories, and it stretched the law to say that the overseas libraries are compelled to spend American taxpayers' money to furnish any entertainment or fiction books to foreign readers.

One explanation for the exception in Hammett's case is that President Eisenhower made a slip at a press conference and declared that Hammett's books must have been removed by somebody who was frightened. Perhaps the bureaucracy in the State Department, feeling that it must uphold a President's mistakes even if it jeopardizes the integrity of the department's own directive, decided to make an exception and let Hammett's books be restored. It certainly doesn't put the President in a good light to assume that he would want any such palpable violation of the department's own rule to save face for a mistake.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Central Intelligence Agency, which Senator Joe McCarthy has the wild effrontery to bring into question, is a secret bureau which defiantly holds itself high above the people and all other elements of the government. In this and other respects it resembles the Russian secret police under its varying names and Hitler's gestapo. I have information which emboldens me to suggest that it has been the blind for smugglers who brought taxable stuff into the United States under diplomatic immunity and for black market profiteering in Europe during the era of almost unrestrained looting by carpetbaggers of the Roosevelt-Truman administration long after the war.

Last winter, in Phoenix, Arizona, two "operatives" of the CIA, one of them an old personal friend, entreated me not to publish anything derogatory to the CIA. One lived in Phoenix and the other in San Francisco. Both were on the regular payroll, but the amount of their pay and the value, if any, of their work, indeed the nature of that work, were to be taken for granted. Yet the CIA, in the trifle of information or conjecture which we are permitted to gather by gossip, is supposed to be engaged in spying on Soviet Russia and, latterly, Soviet China, in foreign lands, including friendly nations. I can conceive of no legitimate function for two paid agents of the CIA in Phoenix and San Francisco.

As I have written, Carmel Offie, a State Department bureaucrat who was Secretary to William C. Bullitt when Bullitt was ambassador first in Moscow and later in Paris, has given a few fragments of information about the CIA. In the closing days of his service with the State Department, he was arrested in Lafayette Park, Washington, on a charge of proposing a criminal act to a local policeman. Offie forfeited his bail of $25, but explained that he had been sent, under orders of the State Department, to keep a rendezvous with a stranger and was "framed."

The idea that ordinary Washington cops would so frame an innocent employe of the State Department may be weighed against the now notorious fact that Senator McCarthy's early charge of prevalent homosexuality in the State Department has lately been further confirmed by the dismissal of many more persons on this ground. Offie went from state to the CIA and, in an interview with me, attended by a third person who was retired from state with the status of "minister," they were only a small amount apart in estimating that the CIA had handed over to the AF of L and the Garment Workers' Union, which is a part of the AF of L, about $3,000,000 to carry on mysterious but unspecified work in European countries through two notorious anti-Kremlin Communists, by name Jay Lovestone, and Irving Brown.

Brown had an absurd buildup in Reader's Digest and other publications whose best possible excuse would be gullibility. The entire edifice of heroic activities which was erected by propagandists in our press to ennoble this paltry hack unioneer crumbled under inquiry. But President Eisenhower has failed to challenge repeated statements by such propagandists in the press that Brown has his approval in his political mischief in foreign nations under the auspices of the CIA.

The Reader's Digest in its efforts to justify its endorsement of Brown quoted anonymous authorities in Washington, one of which plainly was the CIA itself. In that case an accomplice was invoked to testify to the good character of the person under inspection and get the Reader's Digest off the hook.

The latest attack on McCarthy was made by Senator Mike Monroney, of Oklahoma, a thoroughly committed member of the Roosevelt-Truman regime which created the colossal corruption in our government and in the carpetbag scourge of the CIA, the Marshall Plan, the ECA and half a dozen other historic agencies of the same type. Monroney tried to block McCarthy's attempt to examine William Bundy of the CIA, a son-in-law of Dean Acheson. Bundy had given $400 to

A lot of words have been written recently, and a lot more are going to be written, about a fellow named Ben Hogan, who plays golf for a living.

The reason for all the prose is that just this summer, at the not-so-tender age of 40, the jut-jawed little Texan emerged as probably the best man at his trade the world has ever seen. And by trade, we mean trade. Long ago golf, for Hogan, became more than just a game, which is why he's so good at it.

Just how good he is was shown this month when he packed the tools of his trade—beautiful precision-made instruments of shiny steel and leather and persimmon wood—into a long, round leather bag and betook himself to Carnoustie, Scotland, to turn out a job of work before the critical eyes of the fathers of the game in one of the world's great competitions, the British Open.

In a manner brilliant, if it weren't so methodical, Hogan went to work and took famed old Carnoustie apart. Toiling in high wind, rain, and hail which make Carnoustie both famous and fearsome, Hogan not only won the British Open but he broke the tournament record for the course by eight strokes.

Hogan's triumph at Carnoustie came after he had already won this year the other two top tournaments of golf, the U. S. Open and the Masters. And as at Carnoustie, he set new records in both. It was the fourth time he'd won the U. S. Open, top tourney in golf.

Hogan got where he is by a single-minded devotion to his trade that is the mark of a champion in any line — doctor, die-maker, scientist or artist. As a result of amazing skills painfully acquired over the years, he has that extra something to put forth in the clutch which is the invariable quality of the champ.

His injured legs still aren't what they should be and when he's tired he begins to walk heavily on his heels. But even then the little figure in the white cap and button sweater, with an odd-looking black cigarette holder clamped in his teeth, walks like a champ who knows his business so well he doesn't have to worry.

He doesn't have to worry about money anymore. He's made a pile of it. But he's a guy in love with his work, and he'll keep working at it. The Hogans of the world just don't turn out a shoddy product.

A man who delayed his homecoming too long complained to police that his wife bit him on the arm. He didn't mind her scolding but apparently her bite was worse than her bark.

HONOR FOR MERCHANTS

Four giants of American merchandising, F. W. Woolworth, John Wannamaker, Marshall Field and George Huntington Hartford, have been named to places in the Merchants of America Hall of Fame. This Hall of Fame is a new idea, designed to honor men who have brought great advances in the field of distribution of merchandise. Heroic busts of the four will be placed in the plaza of the Merchandising Mart in Chicago. New busts will be added from time to time as new members are elected.

Marshall Field was the founder of the great Chicago department store that bears his name. He was one of the first to realize that the reputation of a merchant and the goodwill of his customers are important parts of any business. George Huntington Hartford was the founder of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company which has come to be known to housewives as the "A and P." Frank W. Woolworth was a pioneer in providing merchandise with the idea that a small percentage of profit and a large volume of business could pay dividends. John Wannamaker founded the first department store in the world which carried under one roof merchandise for all purposes for women as well as men.

Our high standard of living is as much dependent upon our system of distribution of goods and services as it is upon our amazing rate of production of those goods and services. It is well that tribute should be paid to the men who played such important roles in developing that distribution system.

The West German airline, Lufthansa, has ordered several Super-Constellations for long-range flights. Germany may not know where she is going but she is determined to get there in style.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE DOES FUNCTION

The only reason I am able to get out of the boiling city at all is that I can hire a teletypewriter from the telephone company. So I go to my farm and work from there—with a teletypewriter.

Recently I received a letter from a public relations firm in Washington, asking me to join in a complaint against the telephone company for raising teletypewriter rates. Having seen what has happened to many innocent persons who sign anything that is put before them, I have made it a rule to sign nothing, but if I want to join an organization or a group, I write my own ticket and sign it on my own stationery.

Life as the poet said, plays its little tricks. This public relations firm's letter arrived just as my teletypewriter went geflooey. Within a reasonable time, an hour or so, a man was up here in the woods, working on the job, which turned out to be very complicated. The next day, six men were working on it. I cannot get a plumber or a carpenter up here under several weeks of daily telephoning and if the job is too difficult, I might never know how it is patched up, only to make another job for the future.

Therefore, I figure that I am getting my money's worth from the telephone company and all I want to be sure of is that they do not some day tell me that they cannot afford to operate this machine because the cost of keeping it in condition is too high.

Why is it that men are not sensible about this 53 cent dollar of ours? It is only worth 53 cents for a big company as for a private individual and if labor wants more money, and taxes, which are a cost of living, keep high or go up even higher, prices must go up. There can be no two ways about that.

In this public relations man's letter, he says to impress me:

"Our attorney was formerly an attorney for the Federal Communications Commission in the Common Carrier Division which had charge of the rates of the Bell System. He is familiar with the operations and accounting of the Bell System in its relation to TWX and similar services."

This is exactly wrong. Here is apparently an official who was paid by the people of the United States to develop expertness in a particular field, the expertness to be at the service of the American people. But in this instance, the expertness is sold to a public relations firm or its clients with the object of preventing an industry from raising its rates. I am asked to pay $20 toward this cause, $10 for each teletypewriter I use. I do not know how many persons use teletypewriters, but the number is large and if each sent in $10 per machine, it ought to provide a goodly sum for the public relations firm and its lawyer.

I own no stock in the telephone company or, for that matter, in any other. I would not benefit directly or indirectly by higher rates. But I also do not want the telephone company to begin to economize and cut services. For many years, I lived in countries where telephoning was a major event, involving long and irksome delays. Most Americans are so used to good service that they take it in their stride and think nothing of it. It is this amazing service that needs to be preserved and if it costs a few kopeks more each call (a kopek used to be half a cent, which is about what our penny is worth now), I am willing to pay it. When the telephone service goes down, I want to howl.

For one thing, I would like that famous "Girl With the Smile," who went to war or got married or something, to return to the switch-board. She was a delightful person, particularly on long-distance calls. She was never snappy and somehow she learned how to pronounce the most difficult names. This girl, you do not encounter as often as formerly. Nowadays, there is an efficient kind of switch-board gal who knocks your brains out at the slightest provocation.

GETTING ON FEET EARLY AFTER HERNIA

It is fortunate that at a time when our hospitals are overcrowded, physicians and surgeons are finding that their patients, medical and surgical, recover in less time when put on their feet early after operations or treatment than when kept in bed too long.

One of the commonest defects requiring surgical operation is hernia or rupture, and for many years these patients were kept at absolute rest for weeks so that no relapse or break in tissues would occur.

In "American Surgeons," Atlanta, Ga., Drs. L. T. Palumbo and R. E. Paul report the effects of early ambulation (allowing patients to walk) on the recurrences and complication rates following repair of hernia or rupture. They studied 564 patients who had a total of 642 operations. These operations were performed by 18 surgeons using an identical method. The hernias were of all types. After operation, the patients were divided into three groups: 116 patients were not allowed to walk until 14 days after operation; 247 started walking on the 7th day; and 201 patients started walking on the first day. The recurrence rate (hernia did not hold) was 1.27 per cent; it was a little higher for those who had the bed rest for fourteen days as compared to those who got up the first day, and also higher than in those who remained in bed seven days.

The complication rate occurring after operation was much lower in those who got up on the first day of operation as compared with those who remained in bed the seven days and those who remained in bed fourteen days. Thus, in those who got up the first day, the rate of complication was 6.3 per cent; in those who remained in bed seven days, it was 9.2 per cent; and in those who remained in bed for fourteen days it was 17.6 per cent.

The reduction in the number of lung complications following operation was especially noticeable in those who got up the first day.

These figures certainly show that getting up the first day gives best results, a week in bed gives next best, and two weeks in bed gives the poorest results of all.

What does early ambulation mean to hospital accommodation? Drs. The proposed declaration against enslavement of people by secret agreement died a-borning in Congress.

The trade agreements act has been extended for a year, but it settles nothing. The whole argument has merely been postponed.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a revised customs simplification plan. But in the rush to adjourn, it would be no surprise if action on this proposal were also delayed a year.

In fact, out of some 15 major foreign policy proposals which President Eisenhower has made to Congress since inauguration, only two have thus far been approved. They are the one-year extension of trade-agreements legislation and the grant of a million tons of wheat to Pakistan.

Other Proposals

Among other foreign policy proposals which the Congress has thus far refused to consider or failed to complete are:

Repeal the "Buy America" act. Establish a commission to re-examine foreign policy. Encourage the flow of private investment abroad. Receive from the rest of the world more raw materials in exchange for what the U. S. supplies them. Revise the immigration law. Admit 240,000 refugees during the next two years. Authorize the President to give away as foreign relief any U. S. farm surpluses.

Ambassador Dulles has been to Europe, the Middle East and India, but his tours have produced no apparent new policies, settled no old feuds. While liberation of captive people in the satellite countries was a great topic for Dulles campaign speeches, when the revolt came in East Germany, the only help it got from America was cheers.

President Eisenhower, in his foreign policy speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, did speel out plainly what he expected from Russia as proof of its peaceful intentions:

Have its Red Chinese and North Korean pals sign an honorable armistice and provide for free elections for a united Korea. End Communist attacks on Indo-China. Sign a peace treaty on Austria. Approve a free and united Germany. Provide for full independence of the east European nations.

This is almost the only solid foundation stone of foreign policy on which the meeting of foreign ministers has to build.

McCarthy Wins First Part of His Row With State Department Group

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 17—Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, Republican, seems to have won his main point in his skirmish with the International Information Administration of the Department of State about books in overseas libraries, though one would hardly guess it from a reading of most of the dispatches out of Washington.

An important part of the text of the State Department's directive of instructions to the custodians of its libraries overseas was not generally printed. The key point in the controversy has been whether there will be permitted on government library shelves books written by avowed Communists or by persons who—citing the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination—refuse to answer questions before congressional investigating committees. Here is the full text of the paragraph as issued by the Department of State on the afternoon of July 15:

"Works of avowed Communists, persons convicted of crimes involving a threat to the security of the United States, or persons who publicly refuse to answer questions of congressional committees regarding their connections with the Communist movement, shall not be used, even if their content is unobjectionable, unless it is determined that a particular item is clearly useful for the special purposes of the program. Application of this rule to authors who refuse to testify does not mean that they are presumed to be Communists or Communist sympathizers, but simply reflects the fact that such action by an author normally gives him a public reputation which raises serious questions as to the usefulness of his books in the program. This paragraph does not apply to anthologies, other compilations, and periodicals which only incidentally include material written by persons described above, if the writers included in the entire publication are predominantly non-Communist."

That's exactly what Senator McCarthy argued for when he said it was ridiculous to put on the shelves of government libraries abroad books by known Communists or by persons who refused to answer questions, claiming immunity under the Fifth Amendment.

The press instead played up some vague remarks in the lengthy statement issued on Wednesday of this week by the director of the International Information Administration decrying the attacks on the government libraries and its program of information abroad.

Unfortunately, there are some contradictions as between the words of the directive quoted above and the action reported by the International Information Administration as having been taken in one instance under the directive. For, after revealing that "the removal of all works of persons refusing to testify as to Communist affiliations" was ordered on April 23, 1953, and after noting also that on May 13 a message was sent giving specific names and ordering that no books be restored pending a re-examination, an exception was made in the case of Dashiell Hammett. The State Department's statement of July 15 says: "Instructions accompanying the new directive authorize restoration of books by Dashiell Hammett."

This action is inexplicable. It violates the State Department's own rule, because the author in question certainly now has a reputation not only for refusing to answer a congressional committee but for refusing to answer the questions of a court. He served a six-month sentence in jail, and the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed a lower court ruling which declared that his claim to immunity had no legal or factual basis. Hammett was chairman of a ball fund which provided bond money for Communists. When some of them, including Gerhard Eisler, escaped and the court wanted Hammett to identify the bail fund records and the minutes of his organization, he refused to do so on the ground that it would be self-incriminating.

It so happens that Hammett writes detective stories, and it stretched the law to say that the overseas libraries are compelled to spend American taxpayers' money to furnish any entertainment or fiction books to foreign readers.

One explanation for the exception in Hammett's case is that President Eisenhower made a slip at a press conference and declared that Hammett's books must have been removed by somebody who was frightened. Perhaps the bureaucracy in the State Department, feeling that it must uphold a President's mistakes even if it jeopardizes the integrity of the department's own directive, decided to make an exception and let Hammett's books be restored. It certainly doesn't put the President in a good light to assume that he would want any such palpable violation of the department's own rule to save face for a mistake.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Central Intelligence Agency, which Senator Joe McCarthy has the wild effrontery to bring into question, is a secret bureau which defiantly holds itself high above the people and all other elements of the government. In this and other respects it resembles the Russian secret police under its varying names and Hitler's gestapo. I have information which emboldens me to suggest that it has been the blind for smugglers who brought taxable stuff into the United States under diplomatic immunity and for black market profiteering in Europe during the era of almost unrestrained looting by carpetbaggers of the Roosevelt-Truman administration long after the war.

Last winter, in Phoenix, Arizona, two "operatives" of the CIA, one of them an old personal friend, entreated me not to publish anything derogatory to the CIA. One lived in Phoenix and the other in San Francisco. Both were on the regular payroll, but the amount of their pay and the value, if any, of their work, indeed the nature of that work, were to be taken for granted. Yet the CIA, in the trifle of information or conjecture which we are permitted to gather by gossip, is supposed to be engaged in spying on Soviet Russia and, latterly, Soviet China, in foreign lands, including friendly nations. I can conceive of no legitimate function for two paid agents of the CIA in Phoenix and San Francisco.

As I have written, Carmel Offie, a State Department bureaucrat who was Secretary to William C. Bullitt when Bullitt was ambassador first in Moscow and later in Paris, has given a few fragments of information about the CIA. In the closing days of his service with the State Department, he was arrested in Lafayette Park, Washington, on a charge of proposing a criminal act to a local policeman. Offie forfeited his bail of $25, but explained that he had been sent, under orders of the State Department, to keep a rendezvous with a stranger and was "framed."

The idea that ordinary Washington cops would so frame an innocent employe of the State Department may be weighed against the now notorious fact that Senator McCarthy's early charge of prevalent homosexuality in the State Department has lately been further confirmed by the dismissal of many more persons on this ground. Offie went from state to the CIA and, in an interview with me, attended by a third person who was retired from state with the status of "minister," they were only a small amount apart in estimating that the CIA had handed over to the AF of L and the Garment Workers' Union, which is a part of the AF of L, about $3,000,000 to carry on mysterious but unspecified work in European countries through two notorious anti-Kremlin Communists, by name Jay Lovestone, and Irving Brown.

Brown had an absurd buildup in Reader's Digest and other publications whose best possible excuse would be gullibility. The entire edifice of heroic activities which was erected by propagandists in our press to ennoble this paltry hack unioneer crumbled under inquiry. But President Eisenhower has failed to challenge repeated statements by such propagandists in the press that Brown has his approval in his political mischief in foreign nations under the auspices of the CIA.

The Reader's Digest in its efforts to justify its endorsement of Brown quoted anonymous authorities in Washington, one of which plainly was the CIA itself. In that case an accomplice was invoked to testify to the good character of the person under inspection and get the Reader's Digest off the hook.

The latest attack on McCarthy was made by Senator Mike Monroney, of Oklahoma, a thoroughly committed member of the Roosevelt-Truman regime which created the colossal corruption in our government and in the carpetbag scourge of the CIA, the Marshall Plan, the ECA and half a dozen other historic agencies of the same type. Monroney tried to block McCarthy's attempt to examine William Bundy of the CIA, a son-in-law of Dean Acheson. Bundy had given $400 to

Stalin Engineer His Oddest Guest

Schenectady, July 17, (AP)—Frank W. Sharpe retired today but there was no change in his routine: He shook hundreds of hands at the General Electric Co. plant.

Chief GE receptionist since 1941, Sharpe figures he's shaken more than a million hands— about 100,000 a year.

Called "Mr. Hello of GE" Sharpe said his oddest guest in 12 years was a man who said he was "chief engineer of Joseph Stalin, ruler of the world."

"He wanted to see somebody at GE who could stop the atom tests at Bikini atoll," Sharpe said. "He feared that the blast would leave a gaping hole through the globe through which the Pacific Ocean would drain."

Joins Girl in Death

Lester Johnsen, 25-year-old Korean war veteran, left a suicide note in New York, July 16, which led police to the battered nude body of Broadway stage singer Florence Forsberg. Police said Johnsen apparently shot himself in his home with an army rifle found beneath his body. Near the suicide note were two blood-stained kitchen knives, possibly the weapons used on Miss Forsberg, whose body showed deep knife wounds.

and I'm sorry. Life is not worth living."

Second Note Found

Police rushed to the Forsberg apartment and found a second note which read:

I'm sorry it had to happen this way but I could not take it with all the liquor and affection. Les."

The couple had been seen together in a cocktail lounge the previous evening.

At the Winter Garden Theatre where Miss Forsberg appeared as a chorus singer in "Wonderful Town," cast members described her as "a sweet quiet kid, not at all the usual Broadway type."

Beside her chorus work, the slain girl had been understudy for the top supporting role of "Eileen."

Johnsen had recently been discharged from the army after serving 16 months in Korea. A bartender in a cafe near Johnsen's home said he often stopped by for a drink but never got drunk.

"He was a quiet, well-behaved fellow with a good outlook on life," the bartender added.

Ban on Polio Names Defeated in Jersey

Metuchen, N. J., July 17 (AP)—A move to ban publication of the names of polio victims in this New Jersey community has been rejected overwhelmingly, largely through the efforts of newspaper groups.

The proposal was made recently by the president of the board of health, Clyde J. Shepherd, who said such publication was hard on the families of victims and created unnecessary fear and hysteria.

Shepherd ran into opposition from the local health officer and some board members, but the greatest protest came from newspapers, which labeled his plan censorship.

Heading the opposition was the Freedom of Information Committee of the New Jersey Press Association and members of the New Jersey Associated Press.

Snyder Executed For Killing Child

Ossining, July 17 (AP)—Donald H. Snyder, 26, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison last night for the knife slaying of a 9-year-old girl he held hostage after a prison break.

Snyder, who was in Green Haven state prison for auto theft, murdered Betty Jane Arnold last year as officers closed in on him outside her Mahopac, N. Y., home.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had been asked to commute sentence of the World War II Marine, but Snyder said "I'd rather go now than spend the rest of my life in prison."

The prison's Protestant chaplain, the Rev. Luther K. Hannum, walked to the chair with Snyder, whose only words as he sat down were: "Goodbye, reverend. Thanks for everything."

During his last hours, Snyder appeared nervous but resigned to his fate. The chaplain spent considerable time with him as the execution hour drew near.

Convicted in September

Snyder was convicted in Putnam county court last Sept. 22 for the June 11, 1952, murder. After escaping from a road gang at the prison at Stormville, he tried to make his way to New York.

He seized the little girl as he sought to commandeer the Arnold family car, and stabbed her to death as an officer tried to arrest him.

Snyder, a native of Wampsville, a village near Canastota, N. Y., was adjudged legally sane. The defense contended at his trial that he came home a nervous wreck after service on Guadalcanal and other islands in the Pacific. He got into the Marines when 15 by lying about his age.

His mother, Mrs. Gertrude Allen of Canastota, and two stepsisters visited him at the prison this week.

Father Arrives To Claim Body

New York, July 17 (AP) — A heart-heavy father arrived here today to claim the body of his daughter, showgirl Florence Forsberg, slain apparently by a drink-crazed suitor.

Bert Forsberg flew here from Ft. Francis, Ont., where he is a partner in a clothing firm. Struggling to control himself, he told newsmen:

"Coming on top of my wife's death, about two years ago, the shock is just a little too much."

The nude body of the 25-year-old blonde singer, stabbed and beaten, was found yesterday morning slumped between the twin beds of her Manhattan apartment.

The discovery came after police investigated a gunshot heard in the room of candy salesman Lester Johnsen, 25, 40 blocks further uptown.

They found Johnsen shot through the chest with a hunting rifle. A note said:

"I killed Flo Forsberg because of passion and drink. We were in a passion, both drunk. I killed her the defense of Alger Hiss. Monroney may honestly believe the CIA's stock still that such revelations would help the Kremlin against western civilization. On the other hand, by shielding the CIA, he might be working irreparable harm to the United States and protecting actual criminals in a monumental corruption.

As Pegler Sees It

When Senator McCarthy referred to a shakedown of a friendly foreign government for $150,000 he was not inventing a scandalous rumor. As in past performances he will prove up. The CIA and other mysterious bureaus wallowed voluptuously in the ruin of ancient cities and the misery of subjugated Germans who had no more control over Hitler than I had over Roosevelt. They established a record of cynicism and ruthless greed as terrible as that of the carpetbag regime in the tragic era of reconstruction. It is no wonder that this cladestine, but defiant machine shrinks from publicity.

Only last winter Allen Dulles, the present director of the CIA, refused point blank to give information about its work, its expenditures and its appropriation. He took the attitude that it was none of our business. However, when Senator Byrd, of Virginia, took up the inquiry, he was a little less impudent. He told Byrd that my question had been a variant of the old inquiry, "when did you stop beating your wife?" On the contrary, it was too narrow in scope. Dulles is a brother of the secretary of state.

So that you may judge whether it was a loaded question, I repeat it here for you: "Will you please tell me how much money the CIA has transmitted or made available to the American Federation of Labor and/or the International Garment Workers' Union and/or David Dubinsky, its president, and for what purpose and whether by check or currency or what other means? I should like to know all there is to be known about these details including the legal authority, if any. I should like also a detailed statement of the expenditure of the money."

To Byrd, Dulles explained that answers to such queries would lead to unauthorized disclosures of our activities and would be contrary to "the mandate placed on me by law 'that the director of central intelligence shall be responsible for protecting intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosures.'"

A beaten dog yips. Thus we have Mike Monroney shrilling against McCarthy for poking up an inquiry into an authoritarian outfit which has been having a wonderful time at our expense for years and setting the European peoples a frightful example of the American form of government.

New York, July 17 (AP) — A heart-heavy father arrived here today to claim the body of his daughter, showgirl Florence Forsberg, slain apparently by a drink-crazed suitor.

Bert Forsberg flew here from Ft. Francis, Ont., where he is a partner in a clothing firm. Struggling to control himself, he told newsmen:

"Coming on top of my wife's death, about two years ago, the shock is just a little too much."

The nude body of the 25-year-old blonde singer, stabbed and beaten, was found yesterday morning slumped between the twin beds of her Manhattan apartment.

The discovery came after police investigated a gunshot heard in the room of candy salesman Lester Johnsen, 25, 40 blocks further uptown.

They found Johnsen shot through the chest with a hunting rifle. A note said:

"I killed Flo Forsberg because of passion and drink. We were in a passion, both drunk. I killed her

As Pegler Sees It

the defense of Alger Hiss. Monroney may honestly believe the CIA's stock stall that such revelations would help the Kremlin against western civilization. On the other hand, by shielding the CIA, he might be working irreparable harm to the United States and protecting actual criminals in a monumental corruption.

When Senator McCarthy referred to a shakedown of a friendly foreign government for $150,000 he was not inventing a scandalous rumor. As in past performances he will prove up. The CIA and other mysterious bureaus wallowed voluptuously in the ruin of ancient cities and the misery of subjugated Germans who had no more control over Hitler than I had over Roosevelt. They established a record of cynicism and ruthless greed as terrible as that of the carpetbag regime in the tragic era of reconstruction. It is no wonder that this cladestine, but defiant machine shrinks from publicity.

Only last winter Allen Dulles, the present director of the CIA, refused point blank to give information about its work, its expenditures and its appropriation. He took the attitude that it was none of our business. However, when Senator Byrd, of Virginia, took up the inquiry, he was a little less impudent. He told Byrd that my question had been a variant of the old inquiry, "when did you stop beating your wife?" On the contrary, it was too narrow in scope. Dulles is a brother of the secretary of state.

So that you may judge whether it was a loaded question, I repeat it here for you: "Will you please tell me how much money the CIA has transmitted or made available to the American Federation of Labor and/or the International Garment Workers' Union and/or David Dubinsky, its president, and for what purpose and whether by check or currency or what other means? I should like to know all there is to be known about these details including the legal authority, if any. I should like also a detailed statement of the expenditure of the money."

To Byrd, Dulles explained that answers to such queries would lead to unauthorized disclosures of our activities and would be contrary to "the mandate placed on me by law 'that the director of central intelligence shall be responsible for protecting intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosures.'"

A beaten dog yips. Thus we have Mike Monroney shrilling against McCarthy for poking up an inquiry into an authoritarian outfit which has been having a wonderful time at our expense for years and setting the European peoples a frightful example of the American form of government.

Million Observe Shriners' Parade

New York, July 17 (AP)—Shriners in colorful array frolicked through the heart of Manhattan last night in a parade police estimated was witnessed by a million spectators.

The long parade route ran down Fifth avenue and Broadway to Times Square. The last of the 15,000 marchers tramped down midtown streets early today, 5½ hours after the first units started.

The parade was in honor of businessman Remmie L. Arnold, 59, of Petersburg, Va., who yesterday was elected imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which is holding its 79th annual convention here this week.

Sees Hope Strengthened

New York, July 17 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault believes the proposed four-power conference of foreign ministers would strengthen hope for world peace. Answering newsmen's questions yesterday, Bidault said "there are many difficulties that have to be faced, but this is not the time to stress the difficulties, but rather a time for hope." He said he was "extremely satisfied" with conclusions reached at the recent three-power foreign ministers conference in Washington. Bidault arrived from Washington by train and left by plane for France last night.

Gunman Takes $6,700

New York, July 17 (AP)—A lone masked gunman knocked an armed guard unconscious on a pier early today and seized $6,700 of a stevedoring company's pay roll while five husky longshoremen looked on. Five longshoremen were lined up for their pay, as the bandit slammed his pistol into the face of the guard and scooped up pay envelopes. Nearly 300 dock workers, on the job a short distance away, were unaware of the holdup on Hudson River Pier 58 at 17th street until after the robber had fled.

Pop Corn For Picnic Lunch

Most of us are living out-of-doors these hot July days, trying to cool off with cold glasses of our favorite beverage. If you want to put real fun and a "party like" feeling into escaping the heat, take along big bowls of crispy pop corn.

There's nothing like relaxing in the shade and munching pop corn and sipping your favorite drink. The youngsters will love it, too. You can let them have inexpensive "tea" parties with pop corn and cold drinks made from the popular soft drink powders.

If you're lucky enough to have an electric popper and an out side electrical outlet, you can pop the pop corn outside. Your barbecue pit makes for perfect outside popping for evening get-togethers.

You'll want pop corn that pops quick and easy—every kernel of it. There's no greater disappointment than pop corn that only half pops. Warm weather dries out pop corn unless it is properly packaged. So select pop corn sealed in air-tight metal cans—like Jolly Time.

If your family likes peanut butter you can add more fun to the party by blending peanut butter with melted butter or margarine and pour it over freshly popped pop corn. It's really delicious.

Another favorite treat the youngsters can make themselves is Pop Corn Cheese Snacks. Here's the recipe:

Pop a popper full of corn and spread in a flat pan. Sprinkle generously with grated American or Parmesan Cheese while pop corn is still hot. Cheese will melt into the kernel.

Method Discussed To Reduce Mishaps

Steps taken in the city of Rochester to reduce traffic accidents were outlined by Robert F. Winnie, acting district attorney of Dutchess county, in a talk at the regular Thursday luncheon meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Winnie was a member of a committee of Dutchess county representatives who studied Rochester traffic enforcement with an aim of making recommendations in their home county.

Two phases of the Rochester "consistent law enforcement" program were stressed by Winnie: Efforts to cut driving while intoxicated, and to stop speeding.

He told of how moving pictures, tape recorder and various tests are used to gather evidence before trial on drunking driving arrests, and the resulting record of 93 per cent convictions obtained compared to 20 per cent convictions in 1950. The use of radar control in speeding cases was cited, and Winnie reported that the mere presence of a sign announcing the speed limit was "radar enforced" was in itself a deterrent.

Before Rochester's plan was established, the city had a traffic death toll of 27. From that time it decreased steadily until in 1952, there were 12 deaths, he reported.

Winnie was introduced by Howard C. St. John, Ulster county district attorney.

"Hey! You see what I see?"

When a lion appeared on a street in Memphis people fled for the doorways, and from behind windows they asked each other "How come?"

Even though they could watch the lion with their own eyes, they still didn't know the story.

It was from their newspapers that they first discovered that Goldie the lioness had slipped away from a downtown circus. She was so bewildered by the fuss she caused, she turned around and went back.

It's exciting to be an eye-witness to any unusual event. But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

You need the newspaper for that.

• That goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or brief headlines here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality.

Add to this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

Million Observe Shriners' Parade

New York, July 17 (AP)—Shriners in colorful array frolicked through the heart of Manhattan last night in a parade police estimated was witnessed by a million spectators.

The long parade route ran down Fifth avenue and Broadway to Times Square. The last of the 15,000 marchers tramped down midtown streets early today, 5½ hours after the first units started.

The parade was in honor of businessman Remmie L. Arnold, 59, of Petersburg, Va., who yesterday was elected imperial potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which is holding its 79th annual convention here this week.

Sees Hope Strengthened

New York, July 17 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault believes the proposed four-power conference of foreign ministers would strengthen hope for world peace. Answering newsmen's questions yesterday, Bidault said "there are many difficulties that have to be faced, but this is not the time to stress the difficulties, but rather a time for hope." He said he was "extremely satisfied" with conclusions reached at the recent three-power foreign ministers conference in Washington. Bidault arrived from Washington by train and left by plane for France last night.

Gunman Takes $6,700

New York, July 17 (AP)—A lone masked gunman knocked an armed guard unconscious on a pier early today and seized $6,700 of a stevedoring company's pay roll while five husky longshoremen looked on. Five longshoremen were lined up for their pay, as the bandit slammed his pistol into the face of the guard and scooped up pay envelopes. Nearly 300 dock workers, on the job a short distance away, were unaware of the holdup on Hudson River Pier 58 at 17th street until after the robber had fled.

New Shrine Boss Is a Rebel

Remmie L. Arnold of Petersburg, Va., accepts a Confederate flag from his 18-month-old granddaughter, Alexa Ann Arnold, after his election in New York as Imperial Potentate of the Shriners. Arnold expects to spend most of next year visiting Shrine associations and the 1,100 crippled children in 17 hospitals operated by the organization.

Waiters' Strike Ends

New York, July 17 (AP)—Seventy restaurants, closed since Monday because of a waiters' strike, have settled a pension fund dispute with an AFL Waiters' Union and will reopen today. Under an agreement reached yesterday, the restaurants will place pension funds in escrow until details of a pension plan are negotiated. Some of the city's best-konwn restaurants in midtown and the financial district closed after waiters left their jobs.

Pop Corn For Picnic Lunch

Most of us are living out-of-doors these hot July days, trying to cool off with cold glasses of our favorite beverage. If you want to put real fun and a "party like" feeling into escaping the heat, take along big bowls of crispy pop corn.

There's nothing like relaxing in the shade and munching pop corn and sipping your favorite drink. The youngsters will love it, too. You can let them have inexpensive "tea" parties with pop corn and cold drinks made from the popular soft drink powders.

If you're lucky enough to have an electric popper and an out side electrical outlet, you can pop the pop corn outside. Your barbecue pit makes for perfect outside popping for evening get-togethers.

You'll want pop corn that pops quick and easy—every kernel of it. There's no greater disappointment than pop corn that only half pops. Warm weather dries out pop corn unless it is properly packaged. So select pop corn sealed in air-tight metal cans—like Jolly Time.

If your family likes peanut butter you can add more fun to the party by blending peanut butter with melted butter or margarine and pour it over freshly popped pop corn. It's really delicious.

Another favorite treat the youngsters can make themselves is Pop Corn Cheese Snacks. Here's the recipe:

Pop a popper full of corn and spread in a flat pan. Sprinkle generously with grated American or Parmesan Cheese while pop corn is still hot. Cheese will melt into the kernel.

Method Discussed To Reduce Mishaps

Steps taken in the city of Rochester to reduce traffic accidents were outlined by Robert F. Winnie, acting district attorney of Dutchess county, in a talk at the regular Thursday luncheon meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Winnie was a member of a committee of Dutchess county representatives who studied Rochester traffic enforcement with an aim of making recommendations in their home county.

Two phases of the Rochester "consistent law enforcement" program were stressed by Winnie: Efforts to cut driving while intoxicated, and to stop speeding.

He told of how moving pictures, tape recorder and various tests are used to gather evidence before trial on drunking driving arrests, and the resulting record of 93 per cent convictions obtained compared to 20 per cent convictions in 1950. The use of radar control in speeding cases was cited, and Winnie reported that the mere presence of a sign announcing the speed limit was "radar enforced" was in itself a deterrent.

Before Rochester's plan was established, the city had a traffic death toll of 27. From that time it decreased steadily until in 1952, there were 12 deaths, he reported.

Winnie was introduced by Howard C. St. John, Ulster county district attorney.

"Hey! You see what I see?"

When a lion appeared on a street in Memphis people fled for the doorways, and from behind windows they asked each other "How come?"

Even though they could watch the lion with their own eyes, they still didn't know the story.

It was from their newspapers that they first discovered that Goldie the lioness had slipped away from a downtown circus. She was so bewildered by the fuss she caused, she turned around and went back.

It's exciting to be an eye-witness to any unusual event. But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

You need the newspaper for that.

• That goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or brief headlines here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality.

Add to this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Unusual Squeeze Play Wins Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand would be quite unimportant in a rubber bridge game. At a contract of two spades, South could well afford to draw trumps and give up three clubs, one diamond and one heart.

The hand was actually played in a board-a-match team contest, and both declarers were quite anxious to win nine tricks if possible. The play at both tables was quite similar for the first few tricks, but then there was an important difference.

West opened the four of diamonds, East finessed the ten, and South won with the king. South next returned a low club, hoping to ruff his third club in dummy eventually.

West stepped up with the ten of clubs to lead his remaining diamond, and East won a finesse with the jack of diamonds. East returned the eight of hearts, South played low, and West won with the king. West now returned another heart, and South won with the ace.

Up to this point the play was the same at both tables. At the first stable, south continued with his original plan. He led a second club, and West won with the queen. West then led another heart, and East refused. This held declarer to eight tricks.

At the second table the declarer was my friend and associate, Alfred Sheinwold. He could see that he would run into a heart ruff if he led a second club, so he devised an unusual squeeze play to make the extra trick.

After winning the second round of hearts with the ace, he ran all five trumps, discarding dummy's last two diamonds. He saved two hearts and a club in the dummy, with the singleton jack of hearts and two clubs in his own hand.

When West had to reduce to three cards he found that he could not do so safely. If West saved only one heart, Sheinwold could overtake the jack of hearts with dummy's queen, whereupon dummy's low heart would provide the ninth trick. When West actually kept two hearts and only the blank ace of clubs, Sheinwold cashed the jack of hearts and then led a club to West. Now West had to lead his last heart to dummy's queen, thus giving declarer his ninth trick anyway.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going back some 100 years, this is something for the art world of Kingston, as taken from the Ulster Republican of Wednesday, December 25, 1850. "Among the paintings distributed by the American Art Union at their annual meeting, on Friday evening of last week, two are destined for Kingston. One is a beautiful landscape, by Weir, drawn by Mrs. J. McEntee, of Rondout, representing a broad wooded country with a Gothic church in the middle ground and wild mountains in the distance dimly seen through the mist of a coming storm, the last rays of the setting sun shining faintly on the spire or tower of the church. The other is a very amusing one drawn by J. Vanderlyn, Jr. of this village; it represents a cobbler in great rage with a boy who had dropped and broken a plate of butter, the anger of the cobbler and the terror of the boy are drawn in the unmistakable characters. This painting is from the pencil of Chappell, and will be on exhibition at the Ulster County Store for a few days."

According to this newspaper of 1850 there were some 81 women holding the office of postmaster. Thirty-one of this number were in Pennsylvania. Looking through the advertisements C. S. Clay, druggist, "Brick store, North Front, head of Wall street" carried these items: White lead, dry and in oil; putty, lamp black, smalts, gold leaf and bronze, also in silver and copper; furniture varnishes such as, Japan, leather, and coach; verdigris in oil.

He also had oil linseed and boiled, spirits turpentine; window glass, all sizes by the box or light; window sash, brushes of all types, for varnish, shoe, whitewash, scrubbing, tooth and even for flesh; dye woods, with names like, nutgalls, verdigris, oil of vitrol, copperas, alum, etc. A 100 years ago the following patent medicines could be found on the shelves of the well known Kingston druggist: Stoughton Bitters, itch ointment, ink powder, opodeldoc, Godfrey's Cordial, strengthening plasters, bath brick, balsam of honey, and balsam of life, and Harlem oil. It's too bad some of these containers could not be saved along with some old drug store glass bottles to make up an old fashioned drug store in one of the old stone houses on North Front street as a museum. Many cities now have these old fashioned store museums. Usually there is a drug store with everything from old fashioned candy to drug items, and a grocery store with the old fashioned coffee mills, etc.

The other day I heard a discussion on what to do with the old stone houses. I heard one say that some of them could be turned into parking lots, only that the Senate House should be left alone. This section of the country is known to have the largest number of stone houses, and folks come from all over to see them. Nobody comes to see a parking lot. Roosevelt's museum across the river proves by the tremendous number of visitors from all over what a museum can do for a small, out of the way community. People will ride miles out of their way to see a historic monument or special museum. It is the magic of "what was" that we call history in school. A parking place is good in its place, but no building of any worth historically should ever be removed to make room for just a parking lot, to my way of thinking. I would like to hear from my readers on this subject.

Why We Say--

. . . Nonsense

Uncultured people may be called barbarians. But the name came from the Greeks, who were scornful of languages they didn't understand. Just as we sometimes refer to unknown sounds as "blah blah," they called the foreign words "bar bar" and the people uttering the sounds "barbarians."

Record Collection Won't Meet Demand

Washington, July 17 (AP) — The federal government collected $69,595,916,968.36 in taxes in the fiscal year which ended June 30—more than ever before in peace or war, but not enough to make ends meet.

The official report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue on the tax take in fiscal 1953, made public today, disclosed that:

1. Total federal revenues were $4.586,331,408.71 higher than in the previous year. This was equivalent to $436 from every American.

2. There had been some faulty guesswork in the advance estimates of revenues under the post-Korea tax increases.

Former President Truman's budget message of January, 1952, for instance, forecast $27,800,000,000 of collections from corporations. This was $6,300,000,000 too high.

New York state continued to contribute more than twice as much to the federal coffers as any other state. Its citizens and industries paid $12,900,157,997.84 as against $12,327,410,911.24 in the previous year.

Tillson

Tillson, July 16—Final arrangements have been made for the annual outdoor fair and cafeteria ham supper, sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church, to take place this Saturday afternoon and evening at the church. The fair will get under way at 2:30 p. m. on the lawn. The cafeteria style ham supper will be held in the hall at 5:30 p. m. A large crowd is expected. Funds raised will be used to help defray the operating expenses of the church during the year.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company held Tuesday evening, it was decided to hold the annual carnival at the fire house grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, August 13, 14 and 15. A variety of booths will be opened, and refreshments sold. A committee is investigating the possibility of arranging for rides for the children. President Robert Waddell ordered a special meeting to be held at the firehall Tuesday evening, July 28, for the purpose of making all final carnival arrangements. Committee and booth chairmen will arrange for coworkers at this meeting, and final issues decided upon.

Polio Ban Imposed

Elizabethton, Tenn., July 17 (AP) —A polio quarantine went into effect here today as worried Carter county health authorities sought to halt a spread of the disease. Two more cases of infantile paralysis were reported yesterday, raising the total in recent weeks to 20. The quarantine, announced yesterday by Dr. W. G. Frost, head of the county health board, restricts children under 13 to their homes. No child under 13 will be permitted to enter or leave the county, Frost said.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 17—We all greatly enjoy reading the columnists. They are constantly becoming a greater factor in connection with both World and National affairs. Unfortunately, we seldom read a column which talks of our own local troubles—that is, the affairs of our own city or town. Let me discuss these this week.

Everything Costs More

The cost of all supplies (except perhaps electricity) which your city buys is higher today than ever before. Probably more is both demanded and wasted than ever before. Hence, the "city fathers" are raising local taxes. But higher tax rates may not be necessary if your city is proportionately growing in good population. Without increasing the rate of taxation, most growing cities should be able to raise enough taxes from the addition of new taxable property. Let the outlying sections which are profiting from the growth pay the increased costs.

Wages of city and town workers have increased. In view of the rise in living costs, this seems only fair. It is not fair to compare these wages with specific factory wages where production has increased almost correspondingly with wages. Not only have many "town employes" not increased their productivity, but many are perhaps loafing at their jobs. They could not possibly get work in any factory. Would you hire them?

Problem of Welfare Aid

In states where the welfare rolls are public, the net cost of honest old-age assistance and other charity work is not much of a factor. The Federal Government and the State reimburse your local treasurer for most of these expenditures. Furthermore, most of this money remains in the community. Even after paying the increased taxes for welfare work, most merchants, landlords, and retailers are better off as to net financial results. In addition to having the satisfaction of helping deserving people, they are making money from the expenditures of these people.

Highways and Schools

The states are continually taking over most of the highway expenses, while some cities which have efficient city managers have actually reduced highway expense. Not only does the use of the road-building and maintenance machinery reduce labor costs, but with the very low municipal interest rates, your road department can borrow money very cheaply.

Readers know my feelings on school costs. The fact is that we parents have turned our work of bringing up our children over to school teachers, television, and baby sitters. This is all wrong and we parents should be ashamed of ourselves; but if we want this luxury, including school bands, school football games, and other school amusements, we should willingly pay the cost. Taxpayers should not blame the "city fathers" for this additional expense.

Beware of Debt

Even though municipal interest rates are still low, most cities have too much debt; moreover, the personal debts of our citizens, through installment purchases and otherwise, have increased to the stupendous sum of $25,000,000,000. Corruption, politics, and inefficiency have crept into many municipal governments, from which too many voters are secretly profiting. The real solution of our local tax problems is honest and efficient management with wise growth and assessment.

The moral effect on voters of getting unearned subsidies, unearned wages, unearned housing, and other unearned "benefits" through unjustified legislation or labor-leader monopolies, is bad. These dangerous practices are basically the reason for increased costs and increased taxes. This same spiritual decadence is also the basic reason for the fall of the stock market averages from 293 in January to about 270 today—some 20 or more points. This is very significant.

Mayor Calls Halley Out in Softball Game

New York, July 17 (AP)—City Council President Rudolph Halley, a candidate for mayor, had three strikes against him when he went to the plate yesterday in a soft ball game between city hall reporters and officials.

The umpire was Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, who is reported seeking a second term.

The mayor called Halley out on three successive strikes—as the first pitch hit the plate, the second went behind the batter and the third went over his head.

That was only part of the fun as the reporters won 17 to 6 at the annual outing.

Adlai to Talk Sept. 11

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will give his first major speech after his round-the-world trip at a rally of midwest Democrats in Chicago on Sept. 11, his office said last night.

Burma Rice Helpful

Manila (AP) — Burma's increased rice production has eased the threat of a rice shortage in Southeast Asia, says a U.S. Technical Cooperation Administration official. Ison Dashotels, TCA agricultural consultant in Burma, said this season's Burmese rice harvest is even more promising. A greater rice yield is expected because of early rains and more rice acreage.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Unusual Squeeze Play Wins Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand would be quite unimportant in a rubber bridge game. At a contract of two spades, South could well afford to draw trumps and give up three clubs, one diamond and one heart.

The hand was actually played in a board-a-match team contest, and both declarers were quite anxious to win nine tricks if possible. The play at both tables was quite similar for the first few tricks, but then there was an important difference.

West opened the four of diamonds, East finessed the ten, and South won with the king. South next returned a low club, hoping to ruff his third club in dummy eventually.

West stepped up with the ten of clubs to lead his remaining diamond, and East won a finesse with the jack of diamonds. East returned the eight of hearts, South played low, and West won with the king. West now returned another heart, and South won with the ace.

Up to this point the play was the same at both tables. At the first stable, south continued with his original plan. He led a second club, and West won with the queen. West then led another heart, and East refused. This held declarer to eight tricks.

At the second table the declarer was my friend and associate, Alfred Sheinwold. He could see that he would run into a heart ruff if he led a second club, so he devised an unusual squeeze play to make the extra trick.

After winning the second round of hearts with the ace, he ran all five trumps, discarding dummy's last two diamonds. He saved two hearts and a club in the dummy, with the singleton jack of hearts and two clubs in his own hand.

When West had to reduce to three cards he found that he could not do so safely. If West saved only one heart, Sheinwold could overtake the jack of hearts with dummy's queen, whereupon dummy's low heart would provide the ninth trick. When West actually kept two hearts and only the blank ace of clubs, Sheinwold cashed the jack of hearts and then led a club to West. Now West had to lead his last heart to dummy's queen, thus giving declarer his ninth trick anyway.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going back some 100 years, this is something for the art world of Kingston, as taken from the Ulster Republican of Wednesday, December 25, 1850. "Among the paintings distributed by the American Art Union at their annual meeting, on Friday evening of last week, two are destined for Kingston. One is a beautiful landscape, by Weir, drawn by Mrs. J. McEntee, of Rondout, representing a broad wooded country with a Gothic church in the middle ground and wild mountains in the distance dimly seen through the mist of a coming storm, the last rays of the setting sun shining faintly on the spire or tower of the church. The other is a very amusing one drawn by J. Vanderlyn, Jr. of this village; it represents a cobbler in great rage with a boy who had dropped and broken a plate of butter, the anger of the cobbler and the terror of the boy are drawn in the unmistakable characters. This painting is from the pencil of Chappell, and will be on exhibition at the Ulster County Store for a few days."

According to this newspaper of 1850 there were some 81 women holding the office of postmaster. Thirty-one of this number were in Pennsylvania. Looking through the advertisements C. S. Clay, druggist, "Brick store, North Front, head of Wall street" carried these items: White lead, dry and in oil; putty, lamp black, smalts, gold leaf and bronze, also in silver and copper; furniture varnishes such as, Japan, leather, and coach; verdigris in oil.

He also had oil linseed and boiled, spirits turpentine; window glass, all sizes by the box or light; window sash, brushes of all types, for varnish, shoe, whitewash, scrubbing, tooth and even for flesh; dye woods, with names like, nutgalls, verdigris, oil of vitrol, copperas, alum, etc. A 100 years ago the following patent medicines could be found on the shelves of the well known Kingston druggist: Stoughton Bitters, itch ointment, ink powder, opodeldoc, Godfrey's Cordial, strengthening plasters, bath brick, balsam of honey, and balsam of life, and Harlem oil. It's too bad some of these containers could not be saved along with some old drug store glass bottles to make up an old fashioned drug store in one of the old stone houses on North Front street as a museum. Many cities now have these old fashioned store museums. Usually there is a drug store with everything from old fashioned candy to drug items, and a grocery store with the old fashioned coffee mills, etc.

The other day I heard a discussion on what to do with the old stone houses. I heard one say that some of them could be turned into parking lots, only that the Senate House should be left alone. This section of the country is known to have the largest number of stone houses, and folks come from all over to see them. Nobody comes to see a parking lot. Roosevelt's museum across the river proves by the tremendous number of visitors from all over what a museum can do for a small, out of the way community. People will ride miles out of their way to see a historic monument or special museum. It is the magic of "what was" that we call history in school. A parking place is good in its place, but no building of any worth historically should ever be removed to make room for just a parking lot, to my way of thinking. I would like to hear from my readers on this subject.

Then Fire Broke

Troy, July 17 (AP)—Firemen were returning to Central Station yesterday after a ladder drill on the Boys Club across the street. They looked back and saw smoke pouring from a third-floor window. They hustled over and put out a small fire started by a television set in the recreation room.

Why We Say--

. . . Nonsense

Uncultured people may be called barbarians. But the name came from the Greeks, who were scornful of languages they didn't understand. Just as we sometimes refer to unknown sounds as "blah blah," they called the foreign words "bar bar" and the people uttering the sounds "barbarians."

Record Collection Won't Meet Demand

Washington, July 17 (AP) — The federal government collected $69,595,916,968.36 in taxes in the fiscal year which ended June 30—more than ever before in peace or war, but not enough to make ends meet.

The official report of the Bureau of Internal Revenue on the tax take in fiscal 1953, made public today, disclosed that:

1. Total federal revenues were $4.586,331,408.71 higher than in the previous year. This was equivalent to $436 from every American.

2. There had been some faulty guesswork in the advance estimates of revenues under the post-Korea tax increases.

Former President Truman's budget message of January, 1952, for instance, forecast $27,800,000,000 of collections from corporations. This was $6,300,000,000 too high.

New York state continued to contribute more than twice as much to the federal coffers as any other state. Its citizens and industries paid $12,900,157,997.84 as against $12,327,410,911.24 in the previous year.

Tillson

Tillson, July 16—Final arrangements have been made for the annual outdoor fair and cafeteria ham supper, sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the Tillson Reformed Church, to take place this Saturday afternoon and evening at the church. The fair will get under way at 2:30 p. m. on the lawn. The cafeteria style ham supper will be held in the hall at 5:30 p. m. A large crowd is expected. Funds raised will be used to help defray the operating expenses of the church during the year.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company held Tuesday evening, it was decided to hold the annual carnival at the fire house grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, August 13, 14 and 15. A variety of booths will be opened, and refreshments sold. A committee is investigating the possibility of arranging for rides for the children. President Robert Waddell ordered a special meeting to be held at the firehall Tuesday evening, July 28, for the purpose of making all final carnival arrangements. Committee and booth chairmen will arrange for coworkers at this meeting, and final issues decided upon.

Polio Ban Imposed

Elizabethton, Tenn., July 17 (AP)—A polio quarantine went into effect here today as worried Carter county health authorities sought to halt a spread of the disease. Two more cases of infantile paralysis were reported yesterday, raising the total in recent weeks to 20. The quarantine, announced yesterday by Dr. W. G. Frost, head of the county health board, restricts children under 13 to their homes. No child under 13 will be permitted to enter or leave the county, Frost said.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., July 17—We all greatly enjoy reading the columnists. They are constantly becoming a greater factor in connection with both World and National affairs. Unfortunately, we seldom read a column which talks of our own local troubles—that is, the affairs of our own city or town. Let me discuss these this week.

Everything Costs More

The cost of all supplies (except perhaps electricity) which your city buys is higher today than ever before. Probably more is both demanded and wasted than ever before. Hence, the "city fathers" are raising local taxes. But higher tax rates may not be necessary if your city is proportionately growing in good population. Without increasing the rate of taxation, most growing cities should be able to raise enough taxes from the addition of new taxable property. Let the outlying sections which are profiting from the growth pay the increased costs.

Wages of city and town workers have increased. In view of the rise in living costs, this seems only fair. It is not fair to compare these wages with specific factory wages where production has increased almost correspondingly with wages. Not only have many "town employes" not increased their productivity, but many are perhaps loafing at their jobs. They could not possibly get work in any factory. Would you hire them?

Problem of Welfare Aid

In states where the welfare rolls are public, the net cost of honest old-age assistance and other charity work is not much of a factor. The Federal Government and the State reimburse your local treasurer for most of these expenditures. Furthermore, most of this money remains in the community. Even after paying the increased taxes for welfare work, most merchants, landlords, and retailers are better off as to net financial results. In addition to having the satisfaction of helping deserving people, they are making money from the expenditures of these people.

Highways and Schools

The states are continually taking over most of the highway expenses, while some cities which have efficient city managers have actually reduced highway expense. Not only does the use of the road-building and maintenance machinery reduce labor costs, but with the very low municipal interest rates, your road department can borrow money very cheaply.

Readers know my feelings on school costs. The fact is that we parents have turned our work of bringing up our children over to school teachers, television, and baby sitters. This is all wrong and we parents should be ashamed of ourselves; but if we want this luxury, including school bands, school football games, and other school amusements, we should willingly pay the cost. Taxpayers should not blame the "city fathers" for this additional expense.

Beware of Debt

Even though municipal interest rates are still low, most cities have too much debt; moreover, the personal debts of our citizens, through installment purchases and otherwise, have increased to the stupendous sum of $25,000,000,000. Corruption, politics, and inefficiency have crept into many municipal governments, from which too many voters are secretly profiting. The real solution of our local tax problems is honest and efficient management with wise growth and assessment.

The moral effect on voters of getting unearned subsidies, unearned wages, unearned housing, and other unearned "benefits" through unjustified legislation or labor-leader monopolies, is bad. These dangerous practices are basically the reason for increased costs and increased taxes. This same spiritual decadence is also the basic reason for the fall of the stock market averages from 293 in January to about 270 today—some 20 or more points. This is very significant.

Mayor Calls Halley Out in Softball Game

New York, July 17 (AP)—City Council President Rudolph Halley, a candidate for mayor, had three strikes against him when he went to the plate yesterday in a soft ball game between city hall reporters and officials.

The umpire was Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, who is reported seeking a second term.

The mayor called Halley out on three successive strikes—as the first pitch hit the plate, the second went behind the batter and the third went over his head.

That was only part of the fun as the reporters won 17 to 6 at the annual outing.

Adlai to Talk Sept. 11

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson will give his first major speech after his round-the-world trip at a rally of midwest Democrats in Chicago on Sept. 11, his office said last night.

Burma Rice Helpful

Manila (AP) — Burma's increased rice production has eased the threat of a rice shortage in Southeast Asia, says a U.S. Technical Cooperation Administration official. Ison Dashotels, TCA agricultural consultant in Burma, said this season's Burmese rice harvest is even more promising. A greater rice yield is expected because of early rains and more rice acreage.

The farmer looked up in feigned astonishment.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator is disturbed over certain aspects of the present Administration because of the unsuspected influences they seem likely to have upon our future socio-economic trends and international dealings.

I realize I need to tread lightly in this discussion, because of the extraordinary popularity of President Eisenhower.

However, it is because of his glowing popularity that realistic contrarians need to "look on all sides." (Ruminate over this before you jump on me.)

What disturbs me is the General's exaggerated social consciousness. Now don't run off at a tangent. I did not write "socialism" but merely the word "social." The word social pertains to the relationships of human beings to one another, while socialism is a system of government.

If we were living in a peaceful world and there were no crises likely to strangle us at any moment this writer would be quick to applaud the emphasis upon social relationships.

But, in my view, until some of the major international problems are settled the President of the United States needs to reserve all his strength and thought for the world's problems and for the avoidance of war casualties.

Getting down to bald facts, what makes me fearful that the big affairs will be permitted to run on, is the attention that is paid to the relatively unimportant matters, such as book burnings, whether or not a writer unfairly criticizes the clergy, and the extreme fervor with which "McCarthyism" is being falsely inflated.

Certainly the President of the United States is not required to exhaust his hours on these matters which will take care of themselves if let alone. If the time has come when the clergy needs the backing of the President then it is high time the clergy stiffened its backbone. To me it is a reflection of the weakness of the clergy that prominent members wire frantically to the White House when an article appears in a magazine that alleges some of their members are of reddish hue. Anyone who has any contact with the clergy or who has kept in touch with the pronouncements of church groups knows that "liberal" and left-wing leanings are not unknown. But in this land of free speech this is a matter of public discussion and decision; not, for heaven's sake, something for the White House to get mixed up in. With the war in Korea, and the Russian menace, still facing us, Mr. Eisenhower has enough to think about without protecting the clergy. And if they are not strong enough to fight their own battles then Christianity needs braver souls to wear the cloth.

The same for the book-burning issue. How ill-judged it was for the President to let loose that blast at Dartmouth College, which later caused, and is causing, a ruckus far beyond its actual significance. These questions would all settle themselves in the court of public opinion if they were only allowed to run on under their own momentum and not be magnified out of all proportion by White House intervention.

The same is true of Senator McCarthy. He has been built into a figure completely overshadowing his true size wholly by propaganda and the ridiculous chattering of liberals and do-gooders. Again, the President might well leave this problem to others and get on with his more critical duties.

Referring back to the clergy, a minister-friend of mine was making an important Fourth-of-July address in the course of which he said he couldn't understand how any individual could fall back on the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer if he were, or were not, a Communist. He said it was as if a bridegroom at the altar were ready to reply, when asked if he would love and cherish his bride, that he refused to answer because it might obligate him! Incidentally, this minister sees no reason why the clergy is afraid to stand on its own feet and goes whining to the White House.

What has all this got to do with economics, you may be asking.

It has a great deal to do with it. The Republicans are confronted with an overwhelming task of keeping the economy upright while at the same time trying to end a war and resolve the Russian dilemma. It is no secret that men's minds seem incapable of handling today's problems. It is indisputably a fact that what minds are available need to concentrate on the main problems and not go wandering off into distracting fields. It is the Ruminator's fear that this attention to social affairs has a good deal to do with the bungling and mishandling of world affairs.

It is make or break ahead. If a wrong book is picked on, so what? Better a few books, or even a minister or two, than a life lost in battle, or avoidable errors in economic planning.

Estimate on Apples Is 500,000 Fewer Bushels This Year

July apple crop estimates in the New York and New England area indicate a production cut of 500,000 bushels under the June estimate, it was announced yesterday at the 19th annual meeting of the New York and New England Apple Institute, Inc., at the Moriello Brothers cold storage plant, New Paltz, yesterday.

The reasons for the smaller crop outlook were reported as varied and were not listed.

Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt, of New Paltz, talked on the nutrition and health values of the apple and proposed an aggressive program of research and education for doctors, dentists, other professional men and the public.

Dr. R. M. Smock, of Cornell University, discussed past, present and future developments and possibilities in modified atmosphere storage.

William I. Bair, head of agricultural statictics at Albany, reported on the recent Hudson Valley fruit tree survey, and Walt Mason of the same office, told of the work of the Newburgh office on price reporting.

George Moore, agricultural counsel for the First National Stores of New England, told of the great strides made by the institute in the promotion of native apples.

Explains Promotion

The institute's program of consumers' advertising for the coming season was reported by L. W. Marvin, the institute's manager. He also presented to the audience of 350 growers from the Hudson valley and New England regions, a preview of the industry's new color film on Apples and Dental Hygiene.

Marvin also explained the "big national" advertising and promotional program to start in the fall.

Dr. Al LaPlante, of Cornell University talked on the control of the apple maggot and other insects, and Michael Moriello, gave a lively and "dramatic" demonstration of a new spraying airplane.

The institute board met in the evening and extended a vote of thanks to the Moriello brothers for their cooperation in providing facilities for the meeting.

Poison-Resistant Termites

It is difficult to dispose of termite infestation permanently with poison because a few of the wood-digesting bacteria in the insects' stomachs will survive, establishing a poison-resistant race.

It is indisputably a fact that what minds are available need to concentrate on the main problems and not go wandering off into distracting fields. It is the Ruminator's fear that this attention to social affairs has a good deal to do with the bungling and mishandling of world affairs.

It is make or break ahead. If a wrong book is picked on, so what? Better a few books, or even a minister or two, than a life lost in battle, or avoidable errors in economic planning.

Estimate on Apples Is 500,000 Fewer Bushels This Year

July apple crop estimates in the New York and New England area indicate a production cut of 500,000 bushels under the June estimate, it was announced yesterday at the 19th annual meeting of the New York and New England Apple Institute, Inc., at the Moriello Brothers cold storage plant, New Paltz, yesterday.

The reasons for the smaller crop outlook were reported as varied and were not listed.

Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt, of New Paltz, talked on the nutrition and health values of the apple and proposed an aggressive program of research and education for doctors, dentists, other professional men and the public.

Dr. R. M. Smock, of Cornell University, discussed past, present and future developments and possibilities in modified atmosphere storage.

William I. Bair, head of agricultural statictics at Albany, reported on the recent Hudson Valley fruit tree survey, and Walt Mason of the same office, told of the work of the Newburgh office on price reporting.

George Moore, agricultural counsel for the First National Stores of New England, told of the great strides made by the institute in the promotion of native apples.

Explains Promotion

The institute's program of consumers' advertising for the coming season was reported by L. W. Marvin, the institute's manager. He also presented to the audience of 350 growers from the Hudson valley and New England regions, a preview of the industry's new color film on Apples and Dental Hygiene.

Marvin also explained the "big national" advertising and promotional program to start in the fall.

Dr. Al LaPlante, of Cornell University talked on the control of the apple maggot and other insects, and Michael Moriello, gave a lively and "dramatic" demonstration of a new spraying airplane.

The institute board met in the evening and extended a vote of thanks to the Moriello brothers for their cooperation in providing facilities for the meeting.

Poison-Resistant Termites

It is difficult to dispose of termite infestation permanently with poison because a few of the wood-digesting bacteria in the insects' stomachs will survive, establishing a poison-resistant race.

WHEN DAUGHTER IS A BRIDESMAID

A mother explains: "Next week our seventeen-year-old daughter is going to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of a college friend. I met this girl twice, but her parents are strangers to me. Nevertheless, I think my husband and I should have been invited at least to the church wedding. Will you please tell me if I am justified in feeling hurt at not receiving an invitation? Would it be proper for my husband and me to go to the church anyway to see our daughter, even though we did not receive an invitation?"

You certainly would commit no error in going to the church to see your daughter. Your not being invited was surely an oversight.

Red or Black

Dear Mrs. Post: One of the girls with whom I work lost her mother and I went to the funeral home to pay my respects. As I had a date later that same evening with my fiance, I naturally dressed for it and wore a very becoming red hat. Now I understand that I am being criticized for wearing a red hat to a wake. If I was in any way related to the family, I could see their criticizing me, but as I was a mere acquaintance, I don't think that it was necessary for me to wear black. Will you please tell me if I showed poor taste?

Answer: Considering you were not a relative or even an intimate friend, I do not think your red hat was out of place for what was surely a brief visit.

Do Not Open At Reception

Dear Mrs. Post: At a wedding reception, who opens the gifts? I'm told the bride should be helped by the groom. But if she does this, how can she have time for her guests?

Answer: Nothing could be more incorrect than opening presents at the wedding reception. The bride has all she can do to greet the guests and she has no time to look at the presents—nor can the room be cluttered with papers and boxes. For these reasons all presents are opened as soon as they come and are not held for opening until the wedding day.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Details on wedding procedure are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

4 Reasons why fine DIAMONDS can't be sale-priced...

1 The supply of fine diamonds is just sufficient to satisfy the demand. There is never a surplus of these treasures of the earth. Gem diamonds are actual rarities. Ten tons of diamond ore yield LESS THAN ONE-HALF CARAT of gem-quality stone.

2 A diamond's permanence makes quick selling unnecessary. Diamonds do not deteriorate, do not wear out, do not depend on seasonal purchasing. Always and ever, they are desired — and desirable.

3 Diamond miners, cutters, and importers permit prices to fluctuate only within narrow limits. This makes the diamond market completely non-speculative. You are assured that the diamond you buy now will be valuable a century from now. Remember, of all the types of personal adornment offered to you, diamonds may be re-sold for the highest percentage of your original investment.

4 Rare as the diamonds themselves is the man with knowledge, skill, and art to cut and polish them. Such men spend their lives making rough stones into flashing brilliants — and naturally their services are costly. Then, too, diamonds can be cut only with other diamonds — themselves expensive.

A reputable jeweler has no such thing as a sale-priced diamond — and these facts explain precisely why. We price our diamonds fairly and choose them for the ultimate in color, cut, clarity — because we know diamonds.

Dear Mrs. Post: At a wedding reception, who opens the gifts? I'm told the bride should be helped by the groom. But if she does this, how can she have time for her guests?

Answer: Nothing could be more incorrect than opening presents at the wedding reception. The bride has all she can do to greet the guests and she has no time to look at the presents—nor can the room be cluttered with papers and boxes. For these reasons all presents are opened as soon as they come and are not held for opening until the wedding day.

4 Reasons why fine DIAMONDS can't be sale-priced...

1 The supply of fine diamonds is just sufficient to satisfy the demand. There is never a surplus of these treasures of the earth. Gem diamonds are actual rarities. Ten tons of diamond ore yield LESS THAN ONE-HALF CARAT of gem-quality stone.

2 A diamond's permanence makes quick selling unnecessary. Diamonds do not deteriorate, do not wear out, do not depend on seasonal purchasing. Always and ever, they are desired — and desirable.

3 Diamond miners, cutters, and importers permit prices to fluctuate only within narrow limits. This makes the diamond market completely non-speculative. You are assured that the diamond you buy now will be valuable a century from now. Remember, of all the types of personal adornment offeed to you, diamonds may be re-sold for the highest percentage of your original investment.

4 Rare as the diamonds themselves is the man with knowledge, skill, and art to cut and polish them. Such men spend their lives making rough stones into flashing brilliants — and naturally ther services are costly. Then, too, diamonds can be cut only with other diamonds — themselves expensive.

A reputable jeweler has no such thing as a sale-priced diamond — and these facts explain precisely why. We price our diamonds fairly and choose them for the ultinate in color, cut, clarity — because we know dianonds.

School Board Decides To Purchase Property

New Paltz, July 16—An estimated crowd of 400 attended the meeting of the Central School District No. 1 at the high school Tuesday evening. Motions were passed to purchase the Hasbrouck property for a temporary school and approval of a budget of $250,054 was given.

The board asked voters to decide whether or not to purchase the property adjacent to the high school on South Manheim Boulevard, known as the Hasbrouck property, to solve the program of immediate housing in the fall of more children. Charles Moerhke presented the problem by the use of large picture illustrations depicting the history of the growth of the school population. The campus school, which is set up to house 450, has 609 children and the total is expected to rise to 1,000 in 1960. Building a permanent school will take an estimated two years and temporary housing is needed.

No acceptable building could be found among the public buildings. Quonset huts were turned down because of the expensive repairs needed to meet state requirements. Larger registration at the campus school would make it necessary to run two shifts, which would mean an additional cost of $9,000 a year in bus transportation.

The cost of the Hasbrouck property was said to be $20,000 with an additional $2000 needed for remodeling and repairing. Taxes would not be increased next year since a sinking fund and a balance from last year would take care of the cost.

During the question period before the vote, the question was posed of why not apply the money to a new building and place a temporary structure on school grounds. The crowd was told that the space was needed now and a building would take two years to construct. A temporary building was considered too expensive as a shell for three rooms would be $11,000 and would be a waste since the building would have to be constructed eventually.

Dean George Angell of the college said, in answer to the question of why three and four year old classes could not be done away with for advanced classes, that this pre-school program was necessary for the degree in early childhood education offered. Demonstration classes are necessary for this level and since not all state schools offer this program, the classes must be held.

The vote was 198 to 141 in favor of purchasing the property.

The second matter discussed by the Board was the proposed budget of $250,054 for 1953-1954. The three largest items in the budget were teachers' salaries, $114,025, transportation, $30,000 and teacher's retirement, $11,324. Receipts are $92,780.95 and the amount to be raised by the district is $140,239.49. The budget was accepted by a vote of 88 to 6.

A third matter was the election of a trustee to replace Dr. Clifford Hoppenstedt. Paul Kurtz' name was placed on a petition July 4 and no other petition was offered. John Fall was suggested as a write-in and the final vote was 118 to 52 for Mr. Kurtz. The meeting adjourned.

Two cents per box is paid into the fund for advertising and promotion.

Jamison Memorial Buys Oldest New Paltz Home

New Paltz, July 16—The Margaret A. Jamison Memorial, Inc., has purchased the oldest frame house in New Paltz to be used as headquarters for the foundation's youth program in New Paltz. The house, which is on Huguenot street between the Reformed Church and the Old Fort, was occupied by Lucan Van Wagenen in 1800 and has been known recently as the Bob Deyo house. In recent years plans were begun by Frank Giordan to restore it to its original style.

The Jamison Memorial was established in 1951 to perpetuate the old Huguenots ideals among the town's young people. It will provide a meeting place for such activities under proper direction.

The directors for the project, which is in honor of a woman well known for her work with underprivileged children in New York, are C. K. Woodridge, president; Dr. Donald Allen, vice-president; Harold A. Lent, secretary; the Rev. Gerret Wullschleger, Miss Helen Hasbrouck and Richard Lent, board of directors.

The house, which is on Huguenot street between the Reformed Church and the Old Fort, was occupied by Lucan Van Wagenen in 1800 and has been known recently as the Bob Deyo house. In recent years plans were begun by Frank Giordan to restore it to its original style.

The Jamison Memorial was established in 1951 to perpetuate the old Huguenots ideals among the town's young people. It will provide a meeting place for such activities under proper direction.

The directors for the project, which is in honor of a woman well known for her work with underprivileged children in New York, are C. K. Woodridge, president; Dr. Donald Allen, vice-president; Harold A. Lent, secretary; the Rev. Gerret Wullschleger, Miss Helen Hasbrouck and Richard Lent, board of directors.

Doblers Scalp Indians, 4 to 1, on George Magley's 4-Hitter

Hurler Fans 8; Bob Fay Pounds Three Singles

Brewmeisters Even Their Record at 1-1

The Indians are still looking for that first City League victory for 1953.

They gave it a good try yesterday against Doblers and the slick four-hit pitching of George "No-Hit" Magley. But in the end it was the same old story, Doblers 4, Indians 1.

City League officials, however, are not unduly concerned about the Indians. Unlike most chronic losers, the young warriors are a fast, hustling aggregation who invariably put up a good game, win or lose.

Magley had all his stuff with him yesterday. He yielded doubles to Bob Beaumont and Bob Peterson and a couple other singles, but walked only one and fanned eight.

A cheapie run in the fifth inning deprived Magley of what should have been a two-hit shutout. The doubles by Beaumont and Peterson were leadoff hits in the third and fourth but only Peterson got as far as third.

With one out in the fifth, Giannuzzi booted Peterson's grounder and when Bull Glaser threw late to first on Brandt's looper near the mound, Peterson raced to third. This neat piece of base running paid off a moment later when Peterson scored after Orr's long fly to left.

Fay Dobler Hero

Bob Fay was the big stick man for Doblers who ran up a quick 3-0 lead against Jim Ferraro before the game resolved into a grim pitcher's duel.

Fay batted for Bill Tierney in the second and stayed on to become the batting star with three straight singles and a pair of RBI's. Bill Olen collected two hits for Doblers. The Brewmeisters, squaring their second half record at 1-1, made 10 hits off Ferraro but tighter fielding behind Big Jim would have made it a much closer game.

St. Peter's Book Four Big Games

St. Peter's Holy Name tossers have four important games booked for the future, starting with a Sunday contest at Phoenicia.

They meet the Whiz Kids at Saugerties next Thursday and on Sunday, July 25, they visit Woodstock for a return engagement. They won there earlier in the season.

The team travels to Peekskill on Sunday, Aug. 2. Fans desiring transportation to Peekskill are asked to call Richard Hinkley or Ray Schatzel, 581 or 1558. Teams desiring games with St. Peter's are also asked to call these numbers.

Hudson Valley Semi-Pro Baseball Series Set

A Hudson valley round robin semi-professional baseball series involving Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh is virtually assured, Bill Ryan of Newburgh announced yesterday.

Representatives of the three teams—Newburgh Jewels and the all star aggregations in Kingston and Poughkeepsie—met in Newburgh Tuesday to work out details of the proposed series.

Meanwhile, assurance that Kingston might have a steady diet of semi-pro baseball for the remainder of the season is indicated in the schedule announced by Fred Davi for the all-star local squad.

Play Jersey Cardinals

They are scheduled to meet the powerful Jersey City Colored Cardinals Saturday night at municipal stadium and Davi hinted that several other independent outfits would be booked, including the fabulous Georgia Chain Gang.

The Cardinals have split in two games with Ryan's powerful Newburgh Jewels, clobbering the Hill City tossers, 16-4, at Jersey City. Newburgh won 3-2.

Davi said he would announce his starting lineup tomorrow for the arclight engagement with the powerful Jersey nine. He is expected to use virtually the same roster that whipped the Waterbury Stars, 6-5, in 11 innings last Saturday.

Officials of the local All Stars were inclined to blame the sudden rainstorm of last week for part of the low attendance. They feel that those who saw the excellent game will return along with several hundred new fans.

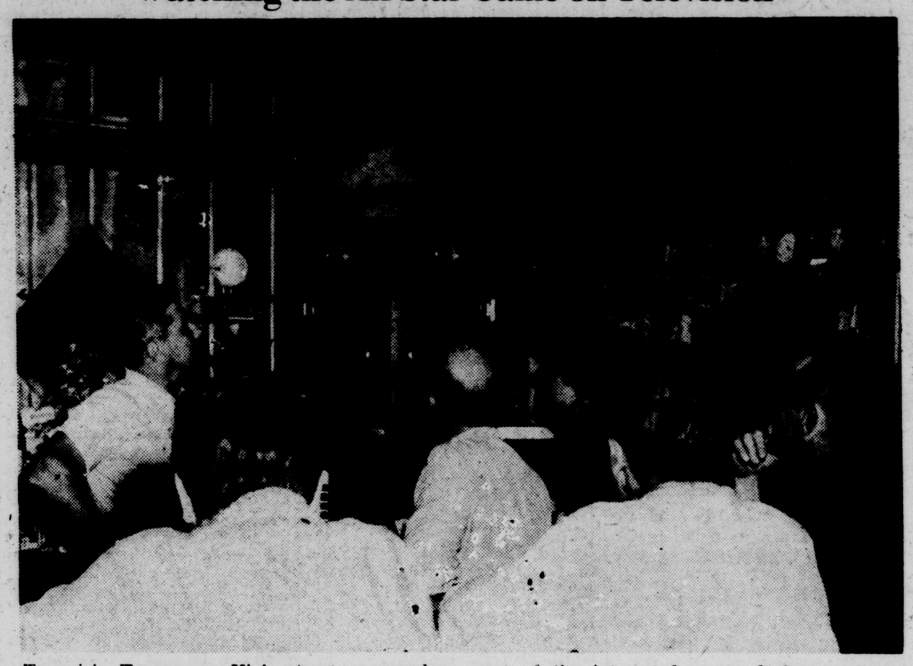

Seen As Good Omen

Ryan, the Newburgh baseball mentor who has been campaigning vigorously for the organization of a Hudson Valley professional league, was enthusiastic after Tuesday's confab at Newburgh.

"I believe the round robin series will pave the way for the formation of a league next year," he said. "If there had been as much enthusiasm earlier in the season, the league would have been organized. But it looks like a sure thing for 1954."

Meanwhile, the local All Stars are hoping for good weather and a better attendance Saturday.

Watching the All-Star Game on Television

Tommie's Tavern on High street, a popular rendezvous for baseball television addicts, drew a big crowd for the All Star game this week. Red Sox Blast Dodgers in Crucial Game, 17-5, to Threaten AL Sweep

Boice and Cragan Pace Heavy Attack

The supercharged Red Sox turned yesterday's crucial second half game with the Dodgers into a runaway, routing the opposition, 17 to 5, to virtually insure a sweep of both halves of the American League.

It was close only for an inning. The Sox opened with three runs against George Kotrady and the Dodgers followed with four against Charlie Boice.

But the Sox never stopped scoring until they had run up a 17-4 lead, reeling off inning totals of 3-5-7-2 with a 14-hit attack powered by Boice and Tom Cragan, the revitalized Red Sox left fielder.

The win was the sixth in eight games for the Red Sox, while the Dodgers dropped to a 5-3 rating in virtually blowing their chances for a playoff.

Don Krueger excelled in a relief role for the Red Sox, while Kotrady and Tom Mayone took the bumping for the Dodgers.

Boice cracked a double and three singles and Cragan found the range for two doubles, a triple and single. Jim Cullum had two solo swats for the Dodgers. Charlie Williams, the sprightly Dodger shortstop, led his team with a single and double.

Big Jim Volker, Dodger catcher, slammed a home run in the fourth inning.

Pirates Score Ten in Second To Upset Indians, 15 to 3

Mike Spada Hurls 5-Hitter, Fans 8

The Pirates made the Indians walk the plank in surprising fashion in yesterday's National Little League game at Hasbrouck Park.

They clobbered the league leaders, 15-3, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Spada, who struck out eight. Ten Pirates clattered across the plate in the second for one of the biggest innings of the season.

The loss was only the second in eight games for the Indians, while the Pirates squared their record at 3-3.

Dean, Turck Star

Mark Dean and Paul Turck shared six of the 11 Pirates safeties off three Indian pitchers—Joe Avnet, Bill Boice and William Murphy. Each slugged three singles for a "3 for 3" gait at the plate.

John Fiore had two hits for the winners. Doug Mellin poled a double, while Francis Reid and Sam Perry belted triples.

Yanks Blast Giants, 7-2 In Esopus LL

Al MacIntosh allowed only four hits and struck out 13 batters as the Yankees trounced the Giants, 7-2, yesterday in the Esopus Little League.

The big right hander also delivered a key double during the Yankees' four-run rally off Harry Kearse in the first inning. MacIntosh doubled behind two walks and Don Tinnie followed with another two bagger after the third walk of the inning.

Yankees made seven runs on their seven hits off Kearse but it was a good ball game after the first round.

MacIntosh had a double besides his single and Gary Best stroked a single and double. Richie Wenzel's triple was the best blow for the losers.

Almost Blow Duke After 7-1 Lead

The American Legion ran up a 7-1 lead against the Rotary in yesterday's FLY contest at the municipal stadium and almost frittered it away.

Finally, they staggered through to a 9-8 decision after repelling a last inning Rotary uprising one run short of a deadlock.

The Legion made short work of Ed Lindhurst, with three hits and three walks to the first six batters before Johnny Culjak put out the fire.

Rotary kept pecking away at Joe Reynolds and Danny Steltz with single markers in the first and third, four in the fourth and two in the last ditch rally of the sixth.

The Legion's record is now 4 and 2, while the Rotary is still looking for its first victory after five starts.

Dykes Hitting Star

Bobby Dykes, Legion third sacker, pounded a double and two singles to lead both clubs at the plate. John Turck, the Rotary cleanup hitter, slammed a homer and Culjak stroked two singles.

Doblers Scalp Indians, 4 to 1, on George Magley's 4-Hitter

Hurler Fans 8; Bob Fay Pounds Three Singles

Brewmeisters Even Their Record at 1-1

The Indians are still looking for that first City League victory for 1953.

They gave it a good try yesterday against Doblers and the slick four-hit pitching of George "No-Hit" Magley. But in the end it was the same old story, Doblers 4, Indians 1.

City League officials, however, are not unduly concerned about the Indians. Unlike most chronic losers, the young warriors are a fast, hustling aggregation who invariably put up a good game, win or lose.

Magley had all his stuff with him yesterday. He yielded doubles to Bob Beaumont and Bob Peterson and a couple other singles, but walked only one and fanned eight.

A cheapie run in the fifth inning deprived Magley of what should have been a two-hit shutout. The doubles by Beaumont and Peterson were leadoff hits in the third and fourth but only Peterson got as far as third.

With one out in the fifth, Giannuzzi booted Peterson's grounder and when Bull Glaser threw late to first on Brandt's looper near the mound, Peterson raced to third. This neat piece of base running paid off a moment later when Peterson scored after Orr's long fly to left.

Fay Dobler Hero

Bob Fay was the big stick man for Doblers who ran up a quick 3-0 lead against Jim Ferraro before the game resolved into a grim pitcher's duel.

Fay batted for Bill Tierney in the second and stayed on to become the batting star with three straight singles and a pair of RBI's. Bill Olen collected two hits for Doblers. The Brewmeisters, squaring their second half record at 1-1, made 10 hits off Ferraro but tighter fielding behind Big Jim would have made it a much closer game.

St. Peter's Book Four Big Games

St. Peter's Holy Name tossers have four important games booked for the future, starting with a Sunday contest at Phoenicia.

They meet the Whiz Kids at Saugerties next Thursday and on Sunday, July 25, they visit Woodstock for a return engagement. They won there earlier in the season.

The team travels to Peekskill on Sunday, Aug. 2. Fans desiring transportation to Peekskill are asked to call Richard Hinkley or Ray Schatzel, 581 or 1558. Teams desiring games with St. Peter's are also asked to call these numbers.

Hudson Valley Semi-Pro Baseball Series Set

A Hudson valley round robin semi-professional baseball series involving Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh is virtually assured, Bill Ryan of Newburgh announced yesterday.

Representatives of the three teams—Newburgh Jewels and the all star aggregations in Kingston and Poughkeepsie—met in Newburgh Tuesday to work out details of the proposed series.

Meanwhile, assurance that Kingston might have a steady diet of semi-pro baseball for the remainder of the season is indicated in the schedule announced by Fred Davi for the all-star local squad.

Play Jersey Cardinals

They are scheduled to meet the powerful Jersey City Colored Cardinals Saturday night at municipal stadium and Davi hinted that several other independent outfits would be booked, including the fabulous Georgia Chain Gang.

The Cardinals have split in two games with Ryan's powerful Newburgh Jewels, clobbering the Hill City tossers, 16-4, at Jersey City. Newburgh won 3-2.

Davi said he would announce his starting lineup tomorrow for the arclight engagement with the powerful Jersey nine. He is expected to use virtually the same roster that whipped the Waterbury Stars, 6-5, in 11 innings last Saturday.

Officials of the local All Stars were inclined to blame the sudden rainstorm of last week for part of the low attendance. They feel that those who saw the excellent game will return along with several hundred new fans.

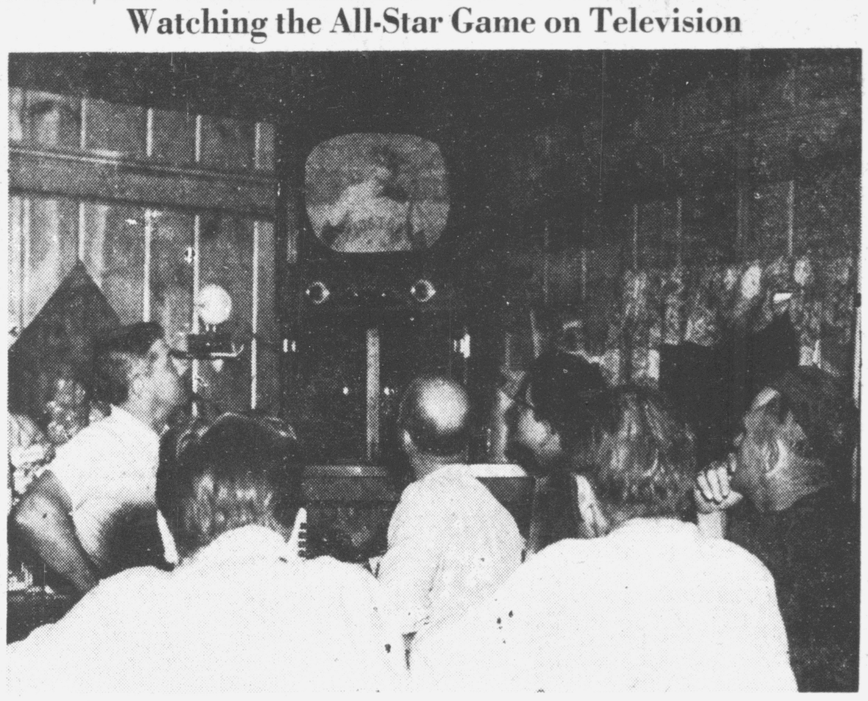

Seen As Good Omen

Ryan, the Newburgh baseball mentor who has been campaigning vigorously for the organization of a Hudson Valley professional league, was enthusiastic after Tuesday's confab at Newburgh.

"I believe the round robin series will pave the way for the formation of a league next year," he said. "If there had been as much enthusiasm earlier in the season, the league would have been organized. But it looks like a sure thing for 1954."

Meanwhile, the local All Stars are hoping for good weather and a better attendance Saturday.

Red Sox Blast Dodgers in Crucial Game, 17-5, to Threaten AL Sweep

Boice and Cragan Pace Heavy Attack

The supercharged Red Sox turned yesterday's crucial second half game with the Dodgers into a runaway, routing the opposition, 17 to 5, to virtually insure a sweep of both halves of the American League.

It was close only for an inning. The Sox opened with three runs against George Kotrady and the Dodgers followed with four against Charlie Boice.

But the Sox never stopped scoring until they had run up a 17-4 lead, reeling off inning totals of 3-5-7-2 with a 14-hit attack powered by Boice and Tom Cragan, the revitalized Red Sox left fielder.

The win was the sixth in eight games for the Red Sox, while the Dodgers dropped to a 5-3 rating in virtually blowing their chances for a playoff.

Don Krueger excelled in a relief role for the Red Sox, while Kotrady and Tom Mayone took the bumping for the Dodgers.

Boice cracked a double and three singles and Cragan found the range for two doubles, a triple and single. Jim Cullum had two solo swats for the Dodgers. Charlie Williams, the sprightly Dodger shortstop, led his team with a single and double.

Big Jim Volker, Dodger catcher, slammed a home run in the fourth inning.

Pirates Score Ten in Second To Upset Indians, 15 to 3

Mike Spada Hurls 5-Hitter, Fans 8

The Pirates made the Indians walk the plank in surprising fashion in yesterday's National Little League game at Hasbrouck Park.

They clobbered the league leaders, 15-3, behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Spada, who struck out eight. Ten Pirates clattered across the plate in the second for one of the biggest innings of the season.

The loss was only the second in eight games for the Indians, while the Pirates squared their record at 3-3.

Dean, Turck Star

Mark Dean and Paul Turck shared six of the 11 Pirates safeties off three Indian pitchers—Joe Avnet, Bill Boice and William Murphy. Each slugged three singles for a "3 for 3" gait at the plate.

John Fiore had two hits for the winners. Doug Mellin poled a double, while Francis Reid and Sam Perry belted triples.

The big right hander also delivered a key double during the Yankees' four-run rally off Harry Kearse in the first inning. MacIntosh doubled behind two walks and Don Tinnie followed with another two bagger after the third walk of the inning.

Yankees made seven runs on their seven hits off Kearse but it was a good ball game after the first round.

MacIntosh had a double besides his single and Gary Best stroked a single and double. Richie Wenzel's triple was the best blow for the losers.

Dancer vs. Jamie K.

Chicago, July 17 (AP)—Native Dancer and his shadow, Jamie K., will renew their rivalry, one of the greatest in horse racing, at Arlington Park tomorrow in the richest mile ever run by 3-year-olds. The two thoroughbreds head a probable field of nine for the $155,000 Arlington Classic, baited with a first prize of approximately $100,000. Second is worth $30,000 with $15,000 and $10,000 for the next two places.

The percentage of winning favorites at the Monmouth Park meeting for the first 19 days was 30.2 with a total of 46 choices scoring in 152 races.

Only one player ever was the captain of more than one Michigan State football team. Bob (Buck) McCurry was the field leader in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

Almost Blow Duke After 7-1 Lead

The American Legion ran up a 7-1 lead against the Rotary in yesterday's FLY contest at the municipal stadium and almost frittered it away.

Finally, they staggered through to a 9-8 decision after repelling a last inning Rotary uprising one run short of a deadlock.

The Legion made short work of Ed Lindhurst, with three hits and three walks to the first six batters before Johnny Culjak put out the fire.

Rotary kept pecking away at Joe Reynolds and Danny Steltz with single markers in the first and third, four in the fourth and two in the last ditch rally of the sixth.

The Legion's record is now 4 and 2, while the Rotary is still looking for its first victory after five starts.

Dykes Hitting Star

Bobby Dykes, Legion third sacker, pounded a double and two singles to lead both clubs at the plate. John Turck, the Rotary cleanup hitter, slammed a homer and Culjak stroked two singles.

Specializing in big innings, Subway Grill ran its City Softball League mark to 13 victories and one defeat with triumphs over the VFW and Beicherts this week.

The Grillmen routed the Vets by 13 to 4 and clobbered Beicherts 12 to 2.

In each tilt, the Subways enjoyed one big inning. Against the Vets they hammered out seven runs in the fourth and against Beicherts they picked the first inning when they pushed across six runs to help them coast to an easy victory.

Two veteran softball hurlers, Joe Amato and Walt Bigler, did the mound work for the league-leaders. Amato had a shutout until the seventh against the Vets when he eased up and was touched for four runs. Given a 10-run bulge against Beicherts, Bigler also coasted to the win. He was tagged for a pair of runs in the fifth frame.

T. Spada, F. Spada, Peck and Duke Freer paced the Subway attack over the Vets. F. Spada and Freer each poled out three doubles. T. Spada and Scholar stroked homers.

Joe Scholar, Tommy Maines and T. Spada led the hitting attack against Beicherts with three hits apiece.

Carl Belts Pair

The second place Hilltoppers had an easy time of it and knocking off Sicklers, 11-1. The winners breezed to victory with a six-run splurge in the opening stanza behind the seven-hit hurling of Ben Freer, Bill Tierney, Ron Scheffel and Fred Schryver collected three hits apiece for the winners. Nick Carl had two homers and Scheffel one.

In other games reported this week, both Beicherts and the VFW apparently found themselves after their lickings by the Subways and came through with respective triumphs.

Basch Hits Two Homers

Beicherts enjoyed two big innings of four runs each in turning back the Alpine Climbers, 9 to 3. Andy Murphy and Dan Basch led the attack with three hits each. Homers by Jack Houghtaling and two by Dan Basch featured the attack.

The Vets skipped through with a 6 to 5 verdict over Cherny's. Home runs were hit by John Crespino and Ernie Schibner.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

It didn't take the New York Yankees long to find out that this western trip is going to be different.

Only a month ago the league leaders blazed through St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit on an all-victorious tour of 14 games. This time they got stopped before they got started.

The Yankees virtually invented the home run and the lowly St. Louis Browns made them mighty sorry for it in the opening game of a twilight-night twin bill. The Browns pounded three in a row in the first inning—tieing the major league record—and added two more later in the contest for an 8-6 victory.

The defeat was the first of the year for the Yankees in St. Louis and although they rallied to take the nightcap 7-3 they lost a full game of their first place margin to the hustling Chicago White Sox, who beat Washington twice.

Sox Keep Coming

The Sox won the first game in 10 innings 6-5 and the second 5-4 over the regulation distance. Billy Pierce, pitching in relief for only the second time this season, drove home the deciding run with a single in the first game for his 11th victory. A pinch hit home run by Eddie Stewart made the difference in the second. The Sox now trail by four.

The two other first division American League teams also triumphed. Cleveland beat Philadelphia 5-3 on Al Rosen's grand slam home run and Boston nipped Detroit 3-2 with Mel Parnell winning his 13th game, tops in the circuit.

Brooklyn increased its National League lead to 2½ games by trouncing St. Louis 9-2 while second place Milwaukee was losing to Pittsburgh 5-2.

Philadelphia won a couple of squeakers from Cincinnati 3-1 and 3-2. And the New York Giants, who had won eight in a row before the Dodgers stopped them in the final game before the All-Star break, resumed their winning habits with a 10-3 decision over Chicago.

Browns on Spree

In addition to tieing the three-in-an-inning record the Browns equalled the major league mark of 17 homers in five consecutive games. It was the first time this mark had been tied since it was set by the Yankees in 1940.

Washington forced the White Sox to come from behind for both of their victories. Minnie Minoso singled home the tieing run in the last of the ninth inning of the first game and Pierce singled home the winning tally with two out in the 10th. Stewart's homer in the second game came with the Senators ahead 4-3.

A double by Mike Garcia and a pair of walks set the stage for Rosen's grand slam at Cleveland. At Detroit home runs by Gene Stephens and Jim Piersall were the big blows in the Boston attack.

The Dodgers struck quickly and decisively against the Cardinals. With one out they loaded the bases in the first inning and Gil Hodges drilled a Stu Miller pitch high and far for the Dodgers' first grand slam home run of the year. Hodges and Duke Snider hit two more home runs later in the game as Preacher Roe scored his sixth victory.

Bernier Stars

Pittsburgh broke a 10-game losing streak with rookie Carlos Bernier playing the starring role. He drove in two runs and scored a third by stealing home.

Robin Roberts won his 15th game of the year in the opener against Cincinnati. Granny Hamner drove in two tallies with a home run in the eighth inning of the nightcap as the Phillies ran their winning streak to seven games. The victories left Philadelphia only 3½ lengths back of the Dodgers.

Hank Sauer homered with two on for Chicago in the first inning at New York but from then on the Giants were in complete command. Sal Maglie won his eighth game with home run help from Whitey Lockman, Al Dark and Don Mueller.

Subways Post 13th Win In City Softball Loop

Leaders Are Easy 12-2, 13-4 Victors

Specializing in big innings, Subway Grill ran its City Softball League mark to 13 victories and one defeat with triumphs over the VFW and Beicherts this week.

The Grillmen routed the Vets by 13 to 4 and clobbered Beicherts 12 to 2.

In each tilt, the Subways enjoyed one big inning. Against the Vets they hammered out seven runs in the fourth and against Beicherts they picked the first inning when they pushed across six runs to help them coast to an easy victory.

Two veteran softball hurlers, Joe Amato and Walt Bigler, did the mound work for the league-leaders. Amato had a shutout until the seventh against the Vets when he eased up and was touched for four runs. Given a 10-run bulge against Beicherts, Bigler also coasted to the win. He was tagged for a pair of runs in the fifth frame.

T. Spada, F. Spada, Peck and Duke Freer paced the Subway attack over the Vets. F. Spada and Freer each poled out three doubles. T. Spada and Scholar stroked homers.

Joe Scholar, Tommy Maines and T. Spada led the hitting attack against Beicherts with three hits apiece.

Carl Belts Pair

The second place Hilltoppers had an easy time of it and knocking off Sicklers, 11-1. The winners breezed to victory with a six-run splurge in the opening stanza behind the seven-hit hurling of Ben Freer. Bill Tierney, Ron Scheffel and Fred Schryver collected three hits apiece for the winners. Nick Carl had two homers and Scheffel one.

In other games reported this week, both Beicherts and the VFW apparently found themselves after their lickings by the Subways and came through with respective triumphs.

Basch Hits Two Homers

Beicherts enjoyed two big innings of four runs each in turning back the Alpine Climbers, 9 to 3. Andy Murphy and Dan Basch led the attack with three hits each. Homers by Jack Houghtaling and two by Dan Basch featured the attack.

The Vets skipped through with a 6 to 5 verdict over Cherny's. Home runs were hit by John Crespino and Ernie Schibner.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

It didn't take the New York Yankees long to find out that this western trip is going to be different.

Only a month ago the league leaders blazed through St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit on an all-victorious tour of 14 games. This time they got stopped before they got started.

The Yankees virtually invented the home run and the lowly St. Louis Browns made them mighty sorry for it in the opening game of a twilight-night twin bill. The Browns pounded three in a row in the first nining—tieing the major league record—and added two more later in the contest for an 8-6 victory.

The defeat was the first of the year for the Yankees in St. Louis and although they rallied to take the nightcap 7-3 they lost a full game of their first place margin to the hustling Chicago White Sox, who beat Washington twice.

Sox Keep Coming

The Sox won the first game in 10 innings 6-5 and the second 5-4 over the regulation distance. Billy Pierce, pitching in relief for only the second time this season, drove home the deciding run with a single in the first game for his 11th victory. A pinch hit home run by Eddie Stewart made the difference in the second. The Sox now trail by four.

The two other first division American League teams also triumphed. Cleveland beat Philadelphia 5-3 on Al Rosen's grand slam home run and Boston nipped Detroit 3-2 with Mel Parnell winning his 13th game, tops in the circuit.

Brooklyn increased its National League lead to 2½ games by trouncing St. Louis 9-2 while second place Milwaukee was losing to Pittsburgh 5-2.

Philadelphia won a couple of squeakers from Cincinnati 3-1 and 3-2. And the New York Giants, who had won eight in a row before the Dodgers stopped them in the final game before the All-Star break, resumed their winning habits with a 10-3 decision over Chicago.

Browns on Spree

In addition to tieing the three-in-an-inning record the Browns equalled the major league mark of 17 homers in five consecutive games. It was the first time this mark had been tied since it was set by the Yankees in 1940.

Washington forced the White Sox to come from behind for both of their victories. Minnie Minoso singled home the tieing run in the last of the ninth inning of the first game and Pierce singled home the winning tally with two out in the 10th. Stewart's homer in the second game came with the Senators ahead 4-3.

A double by Mike Garcia and a pair of walks set the stage for Rosen's grand slam at Cleveland. At Detroit home runs by Gene Stephens and Jim Piersall were the big blows in the Boston attack.

The Dodgers struck quickly and decisively against the Cardinals. With one out they loaded the bases in the first inning and Gil Hodges drilled a Stu Miller pitch high and far for the Dodgers' first grand slam home run of the year. Hodges and Duke Snider hit two more home runs later in the game as Preacher Roe scored his sixth victory.

Bernier Stars

Pittsburgh broke a 10-game losing streak with rookie Carlos Bernier playing the starring role. He drove in two runs and scored a third by stealing home.

Robin Roberts won his 15th game of the year in the opener against Cincinnati. Granny Hamner drove in two tallies with a home run in the eighth inning of the nightcap as the Phillies ran their winning streak to seven games. The victories left Philadelphia only 3½ lengths back of the Dodgers.

Hank Sauer homered with two on for Chicago in the first inning at New York but from then on the Giants were in complete command. Sal Maglie won his eighth game with home run help from Whitey Lockman, Al Dark and Don Mueller.

whether they (the Reds) break their word, I will not. We have an agreement for executive sessions and neither I nor any of my subordinates will in any way violate it."

Peiping radio accused the allies of walking out on the negotiations Wednesday and Clark later called the Red broadcast a violation of the secrecy agreement.

The UN commander flew to Munsan in a light plane Friday morning and immediately went into conference with Harrison and three other U. S. truce delegates.

The fifth member of the allied truce team, South Korean Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, has boycotted both Musan and Panmunjom since May 25. The boycott is an expression of President Rhee's violent opposition to a truce which does not guarantee prompt unification of his nation.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Suspense Drama Begins Tuesday

Woodstock, July 17 — Black Chiffon, celebrated family suspense drama which reveals what can happen to an average family when the thin barrier between normal and abnormal emotion crashes down, opens at the Woodstock Playhouse Tuesday, July 21, and continues through Sunday, July 26. Philip Robinson, Playhouse director, stages the play.

Edith Gresham, who returned last week for her second Woodstock season, will take the theatrically famous role of Alicia Christie, the woman whose maternal love is so powerful that it becomes a destructive boomerang.

Written by British playwright Lesley Storm, Black Chiffon created something of a sensation both in London, where it was originally produced, and in New York where English actress Flora Robson took the role now to be played by Miss Gresham.

Tom Emlyn Williams, British actor who played in The Mad Woman of Chaillot with Martita Hunt, will portray Robert Christie, Alicia's husband, who is confounded by his wife's strange behavior on the eve of their son's wedding. The son, Roy, will be played by Louis Criss, who recently appeared in the Manhattan tryout of Day of Grace and who has a prominent role in next week's Playhouse pre-Broadway tryout of Josephine Bentham's new comedy, Some Little Honor.

Carl Harbord, last seen in New York in Much Ado About Nothing, portrays the psychiatrist who is consulted when Alicia makes her sudden and disastrous mistake. Lynn Olwin, lovely Playhouse ingenue, Loraine Grover, newcomer to the Playhouse, and Ann Sullivan, character actress currently in Mr. Pim Passes By, complete the Black Chiffon cast.

The British upper middle-class home setting is created by R. McDonald Brown, Playhouse designer, whose work has been winning area plaudits.

Church Fair Next Week

Woodstock, July 17—The annual fair and roast beef supper of the Wittenberg Church will be held at the church hall, Wednesday, July 22. The fair will begin at 2 p. m., with fancy articles for sale. The first supper serving will be at 5:30 p. m.

Will Meet Saturday

Woodstock, July 17—The Historical Society of Woodstock will hold its second meeting of the season as guests of the Ulster County Historical Society at the Bevier House in Marbletown on Saturday. Members have been requested to bring their own box suppers. Those who wish transportation to the meeting are requested to call Woodstock 2434.

To Speak Tonight

Woodstock, July 17—The Woodstock Artists Association will present tonight as its guest speaker Henry Billings, American representative at the International Art Conference at Venice in September 1952, at 8:15 o'clock. His subject will be the UNESCO Conference.

Herrick Reelected Riding Club Head

Woodstock, July 17—Election of officers for the coming year was held at the last meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Saturday night in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. Griffin Herrick was elected president for the third successive year. The other officers are as follows: Freilan Van De Bogart, vice president; Mrs. Alton Dietz, of Hurley, treasurer; Mrs. Virgil Van Wagonen, of Bearsville, secretary.

The following seven directors also were elected: Griffin Herrick, Mrs. Alton Dietz, Charles Ashley of Kingston, Freilan Van De Bogart, Virgil Van Wagonen, Mrs. James J. Dargan of Saugerties, George M. Hard of Ulster Park. Hard served as chairman for the election.

Annual reports were submitted by the secretary and treasurer and Mrs. George M. Hard, chairman of the horse show, reported on the event. She thanked all the chairmen and their committees for the fine presentation of the show.

Field Day Sept. 13

On Wednesday evening the new board of directors held their meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freilan Van De Bogart in Bearsville. Committee chairmen for the ensuing year were appointed. They also decided that the annual field day of the club would be held Sunday, Sept. 13, classes and events to be announced later. Freilan Van De Bogart will serve as field day chairman.

It was announced that Mrs. Hard will be the chairman for the 1954 horse show, and will also serve as publicity chairman for the club. Mrs. Griffin Herrick will head the membership committee, and the grounds will be in charge of Griffin Herrick. The trails committee will be under the direction of Charles Ashley, and the activities committee, Freilan Van De Bogart, Mrs. Freilan Van De Bogart and Mrs. Dietz, will be co-chairmen of the entertainment committee; Charles Ashley, education committee; Mrs. Dargan, Mrs. Dietz and Mrs. Van De Bogert, sick committee; Freilan Van DeBogart, George Hard and Mrs. Dargan, finance committee.

Realtors to Meet

Woodstock, July 17—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Artists Realty Company, Inc., will be held Friday, July 24, at 8 p. m., at the Woodstock Art Gallery. Reports will be made by officers and committee chairmen, and there will be an election of one additional director. The present directors of the Realty Company are: Norbert Heermann, Belmont Towbin, Irving Brown, Mrs. Julia Leaycraft, Mrs. Patrick Collins and Rodney Lethbridge whose terms continue for at least another year.

Village Notes

Woodstock, July 17—The Archduke Rudolph Hapsburg and his bride the former Xenia Czernichev-Besobrasov, who were married in Tuxedo Park, June 22, spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Serge Czernichev-Besobrasov, at their home Hickory Hollow in this village. The Archduke and Archduchess stopped here on their return from their wedding trip on an island off South Carolina.

William Klippel left Wednesday to spend a week at Ocean Grove, N. J.

Edward Myer has returned to his home from the Kingston Hospital.

Josephine Bentham, author of Some Little Honor, a new comedy which the Woodstock Playhouse is presenting as a pre-Broadway tryout during the week of July 28, will arrive Tuesday, July 21, to work with the cast during rehearsals. Betty Breckenridge, who will star in the play, will arrive on the same date.

Officers Reach Saigon

Saigon, Indochina, July 17 (AP)—Sixty U. S. Air Force officers arrived here today to train and advise French airmen fighting the Communist-led Vietminh.

Allies Cut Red . . .

to contact with the enemy, in the first resumption of open warfare in nearly two years," he said.

"The attack has been intermittent across the front during the past two days," Taylor said, with the exception of the two major ROK actions at Kumhwa and in the Kumsong valley, about 15 miles apart. Presumably there were U. S. troops somewhere between.

No Report on Divisions

Taylor's statement said only that the U. S. 9th Corps was defending part of the front hit by the Red onslaught. There was no indication which divisions were on the line.

Latest available information showed the 9th Corps made up of the U. S. 40th, 3rd and 45th Divisions and the ROK 2nd and 3rd Divisions. The Turkish Brigade, Philippines Battalion Combat Team and Greek Battalion were attached to the U. S. 3rd Division.

Allied pilots hammered the Reds with 1,272,000 pounds of bombs, mainly at the front, in more than 500 strikes, the air force said. A flight of Sabre jet fighter-bombers reported destroying six rarely-seen Red tanks and two trucks in a convoy near Kumhwa.

Other fighting raged far to the east, as the Communists made light assaults around Luke the Gook's Castle and Anchor Hill.

The Reds were spending manpower recklessly in their attacks. The U. S. 8th Army reported a stunning Communist casualty toll for the week ended Tuesday—14,200 dead and 6,800 wounded. Most of the casualties were inflicted on the 80,000 attacking force which hit the Kumsong Bulge.

Casualties Not Given

Allied casualties were not disclosed, but a report of evacuations showed they were heavy. Without disclosing totals, the air force said the number of wounded evacuated to hospitals Thursday was the third highest one-day total of the war.

At least 300 Americans were dead or missing after the Chinese overran a veteran artillery battalion at the height of their offensive earlier in the week, the 8th Army disclosed. It was the worst such slaughter since troops of the U. S. 2nd Division were cut up near Hoengsong in February, 1951.

Stalling of the Red drive toward Kumhwa bore out the prediction of Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son. Young Eisenhower, a staff officer at the front, told newsmen, "the attack can be taken care of all right."

Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, said after he finished his Korean inspection trip Friday and returned to Tokyo:

"The situation is stabilized at the front."

Bomb Is Tossed

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 17 (AP)—A bomb was thrown early today in the back of a Bambridge movie house where the British Coronation film "A Queen Is Crowned," is to be shown tonight. The theatre was empty at the time and no one was hurt.

Princess Gives

green frock and white shoes and gloves, was at the airport to greet her younger sister and her mother. With the Duke of Edinburgh, she entered the plane for five minutes of private greeting.

Then all emerged and chatted in the bright sunshine with little groups of airport officials and members of the Comet crew.

Though the vivacious princess beamed and seemed to be thoroughly glad to be home, she coughed occasionally. Apparently she has not shaken off all the effects of the cold she suffered from in Africa.

The press furore over the royal romance rumor continued unabated. The tabloid London Daily Mirror reported 70,142 of its readers had replied to a poll asking whether the princess should marry Townsend, and 96 per cent said yes.

Even though Townsend was the innocent party in the divorce case he won against his wife on charges of adultery, the Church of England frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons. Britain's leading Catholic newspaper, The Catholic Herald, also is opposing the match and wrote this week Margaret should surrender all royal "rank and status" if she marries Townsend.

whether they (the Reds) break their word, I will not. We have an agreement for executive sessions and neither I nor any of my subordinates will in any way violate it."

Peiping radio accused the allies of walking out on the negotiations Wednesday and Clark later called the Red broadcast a violation of the secrecy agreement.

The UN commander flew to Munsan in a light plane Friday morning and immediately went into conference with Harrison and three other U. S. truce delegates.

The fifth member of the allied truce team, South Korean Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, has boycotted both Musan and Panmunjom since May 25. The boycott is an expression of President Rhee's violent opposition to a truce which does not guarantee prompt unification of his nation.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Suspense Drama Begins Tuesday

Woodstock, July 17 — Black Chiffon, celebrated family suspense drama which reveals what can happen to an average family when the thin barrier between normal and abnormal emotion crashes down, opens at the Woodstock Playhouse Tuesday, July 21, and continues through Sunday, July 26. Philip Robinson, Playhouse director, stages the play.

Edith Gresham, who returned last week for her second Woodstock season, will take the theatrically famous role of Alicia Christie, the woman whose maternal love is so powerful that it becomes a destructive boomerang.

Written by British playwright Lesley Storm, Black Chiffon created something of a sensation both in London, where it was originally produced, and in New York where English actress Flora Robson took the role now to be played by Miss Gresham.

Tom Emlyn Williams, British actor who played in The Mad Woman of Chaillot with Martita Hunt, will portray Robert Christie, Alicia's husband, who is confounded by his wife's strange behavior on the eve of their son's wedding. The son, Roy, will be played by Louis Criss, who recently appeared in the Manhattan tryout of Day of Grace and who has a prominent role in next week's Playhouse pre-Broadway tryout of Josephine Bentham's new comedy, Some Little Honor.

Carl Harbord, last seen in New York in Much Ado About Nothing, portrays the psychiatrist who is consulted when Alicia makes her sudden and disastrous mistake. Lynn Olwin, lovely Playhouse ingenue, Loraine Grover, newcomer to the Playhouse, and Ann Sullivan, character actress currently in Mr. Pim Passes By, complete the Black Chiffon cast.

The British upper middle-class home setting is created by R. McDonald Brown, Playhouse designer, whose work has been winning area plaudits.

Herrick Reelected Riding Club Head

Woodstock, July 17—Election of officers for the coming year was held at the last meeting of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Saturday night in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. Griffin Herrick was elected president for the third successive year. The other officers are as follows: Freilan Van De Bogart, vice president; Mrs. Alton Dietz, of Hurley, treasurer; Mrs. Virgil Van Wagonen, of Bearsville, secretary.

The following seven directors also were elected: Griffin Herrick, Mrs. Alton Dietz, Charles Ashley of Kingston, Freilan Van De Bogart, Virgil Van Wagonen, Mrs. James J. Dargan of Saugerties, George M. Hard of Ulster Park. Hard served as chairman for the election.

Annual reports were submitted by the secretary and treasurer and Mrs. George M. Hard, chairman of the horse show, reported on the event. She thanked all the chairmen and their committees for the fine presentation of the show.

Field Day Sept. 13

On Wednesday evening the new board of directors held their meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freilan Van De Bogart in Bearsville. Committee chairmen for the ensuing year were appointed. They also decided that the annual field day of the club would be held Sunday, Sept. 13, classes and events to be announced later. Freilan Van De Bogart will serve as field day chairman.

It was announced that Mrs. Hard will be the chairman for the 1954 horse show, and will also serve as publicity chairman for the club. Mrs. Griffin Herrick will head the membership committee, and the grounds will be in charge of Griffin Herrick. The trails committee will be under the direction of Charles Ashley, and the activities committee, Freilan Van De Bogart, Mrs. Freilan Van De Bogart and Mrs. Dietz, will be co-chairmen of the entertainment committee; Charles Ashley, education committee; Mrs. Dargan, Mrs. Dietz and Mrs. Van De Bogert, sick committee; Freilan Van DeBogart, George Hard and Mrs. Dargan, finance committee.

The Archduke and Archduchess stopped here on their return from their wedding trip on an island off South Carolina.

Edward Myer has returned to his home from the Kingston Hospital.

Josephine Bentham, author of Some Little Honor, a new comedy which the Woodstock Playhouse is presenting as a pre-Broadway tryout during the week of July 28, will arrive Tuesday, July 21, to work with the cast during rehearsals. Betty Breckenridge, who will star in the play, will arrive on the same date.

Officers Reach Saigon

Saigon, Indochina, July 17 (AP)—Sixty U. S. Air Force officers arrived here today to train and advise French airmen fighting the Communist-led Vietminh.

Allies Cut Red . . .

to contact with the enemy, in the first resumption of open warfare in nearly two years," he said.

"The attack has been intermittent across the front during the past two days," Taylor said, with the exception of the two major ROK actions at Kumhwa and in the Kumsong valley, about 15 miles apart. Presumably there were U. S. troops somewhere between.

No Report on Divisions

Taylor's statement said only that the U. S. 9th Corps was defending part of the front hit by the Red onslaught. There was no indication which divisions were on the line.

Latest available information showed the 9th Corps made up of the U. S. 40th, 3rd and 45th Divisions and the ROK 2nd and 3rd Divisions. The Turkish Brigade, Philippines Battalion Combat Team and Greek Battalion were attached to the U. S. 3rd Division.

Allied pilots hammered the Reds with 1,272,000 pounds of bombs, mainly at the front, in more than 500 strikes, the air force said. A flight of Sabre jet fighter-bombers reported destroying six rarely-seen Red tanks and two trucks in a convoy near Kumhwa.

Other fighting raged far to the east, as the Communists made light assaults around Luke the Gook's Castle and Anchor Hill.

The Reds were spending manpower recklessly in their attacks. The U. S. 8th Army reported a stunning Communist casualty toll for the week ended Tuesday—14,200 dead and 6,800 wounded. Most of the casualties were inflicted on the 80,000 attacking force which hit the Kumsong Bulge.

Casualties Not Given

Allied casualties were not disclosed, but a report of evacuations showed they were heavy. Without disclosing totals, the air force said the number of wounded evacuated to hospitals Thursday was the third highest one-day total of the war.

At least 300 Americans were dead or missing after the Chinese overran a veteran artillery battalion at the height of their offensive earlier in the week, the 8th Army disclosed. It was the worst such slaughter since troops of the U. S. 2nd Division were cut up near Hoengsong in February, 1951.

Stalling of the Red drive toward Kumhwa bore out the prediction of Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son. Young Eisenhower, a staff officer at the front, told newsmen, "the attack can be taken care of all right."

Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, said after he finished his Korean inspection trip Friday and returned to Tokyo:

"The situation is stabilized at the front."

Bomb Is Tossed

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 17 (AP)—A bomb was thrown early today in the back of a Bambridge movie house where the British Coronation film "A Queen Is Crowned," is to be shown tonight. The theatre was empty at the time and no one was hurt.

Princess Gives

green frock and white shoes and gloves, was at the airport to greet her younger sister and her mother. With the Duke of Edinburgh, she entered the plane for five minutes of private greeting.

Then all emerged and chatted in the bright sunshine with little groups of airport officials and members of the Comet crew.

Though the vivacious princess beamed and seemed to be thoroughly glad to be home, she coughed occasionally. Apparently she has not shaken off all the effects of the cold she suffered from in Africa.

The press furore over the royal romance rumor continued unabated. The tabloid London Daily Mirror reported 70,142 of its readers had replied to a poll asking whether the princess should marry Townsend, and 96 per cent said yes.

Even though Townsend was the innocent party in the divorce case he won against his wife on charges of adultery, the Church of England frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons. Britain's leading Catholic newspaper, The Catholic Herald, also is opposing the match and wrote this week Margaret should surrender all royal "rank and status" if she marries Townsend.

Midwestern Sections Get Some Rainfall

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear in most of the western states and in the northeastern part of the country today but it was wet and cloudy weather over wide areas of the mid-continent.

Rain and thunderstorms hit sections of Illinois and Indiana and southern Wisconsin during the night. Earlier showers fell in the eastern Dakotas and thundershowers were reported in northern Texas and southern Arizona.

Heaviest rainfall yesterday was in the southeastern and south central sections of the country, with more than 3 inches at New Orleans in 24 hours ending at midnight. The rainfall at Macon, Ga., measured nearly 2½ inches, nearly 2 inches at Topeka, Kan., and 1½ inch at Memphis.

Cooler Pacific air continued to move slowly eastward over the north and central plains. Greatest cooling was along the eastern slopes of the central Rockies. It was 66 in Casper, Wyo., yesterday compared to 98 on Wednesday.

Hot weather continued in the far southwest. Yesterday's hot spots were Thermal and El Centro, Calif., which reported 107, the same reading as on Wednesday.

Regional Forecasts

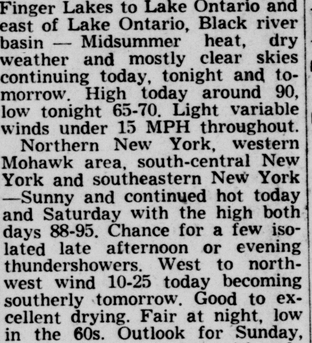

Western New York, Northern Finger Lakes to Lake Ontario and east of Lake Ontario, Black river basin — Midsummer heat, dry weather and mostly clear skies continuing today, tonight and tomorrow. High today around 90, low tonight 65-70. Light variable winds under 15 MPH throughout.

Northern New York, western Mohawk area, south-central New York and southeastern New York —Sunny and continued hot today and Saturday with the high both days 88-95. Hard Persuasion Surpasses Denunciation, Ike Finds

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Political honeymoons, like the other kind, seldom last forever. They may ripen into a lifetime of happy teamwork. Or they may wither into pre-divorce bickering. Frequently you can look for some sort of crisis after the first six months.

So it was with Harry S. Truman in his relations with Congress. And so it is turning out for Dwight D. Eisenhower, who succeeded Truman in the White House six months ago next Monday.

Strange as it may seem, in the light of his subsequent rows with the lawmakers, and with the Republican 80th Congress in particular, Truman and the men on Capitol Hill exchanged hardly a cross word in the momentous first six months following Franklin D. Roosevelt's death.

It was only after Truman submitted his first legislative program, a few days short of the six month mark, that the sparring which later became a donnybrook, began.

Until that time Truman's difficulties with his former colleagues were, if anything, less notable than Eisenhower's have been. There were no such controversies as the one over confirmation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense or, more recently, over the air force budget.

Tries to Avoid Conflict

Trouble with Congress, of course, is the last thing Eisenhower has wanted. He has tried so hard to avoid it, in fact, that some Democrats have complained his administration lacks strong leadership.

Eisenhower's own attitude, as he has expressed it, could be summed up in a homely adage: You catch more flies with honey than you do with vinegar.

Persuasion, rather than denunciation, is his stock in trade, and, halfway through his first year in office, he has found it advisable to persuade oftener and harder than ever before.

With Congress in a rush to adjourn at the end of this month, Eisenhower has telephoned key legislators, had them to frequent White House conferences. On a single day this week he breakfasted with the men who control the purse strings in the House, lunched with their counterparts in the Senate.

Uses Effective Way

"He didn't try to pressure us," one lawmaker said afterward. "He didn't even ask for anything specific. He just talked about the general picture and gave us some information we hadn't had before. It was a most effective presentation."

But it didn't stop the House group from voting, only 24 hours later, to slash more than a billion dollars from the President's foreign aid program—a cornerstone of his whole foreign policy.

This was only a subcommittee action. There's a chance for part or all of the cut to be restored later in the legislative process. But time is short and persuasion takes time. The next two weeks may tell whether Eisenhower's honeymoon with Congress will ripen—or, like many another honeymoon, will be interrupted by a quarrel over money.

Firemen Will See Two-Way Radio in Test on Saturday

A demonstration and explanation of the use by fire fighting forces of two-way radio system has been arranged by the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association radio committee for Saturday afternoon following the firemen's parade, it was announced today by Arthur C. Chipp, county fire coordinator.

Through arrangements completed with Dewey Borden, Sullivan county fire coordinator and chief of the Liberty Fire Department, the J. C. Young Hose Company pumper will participate in the Ulster county association's parade on Saturday, manned by at least six members of the company.

Will Explain Routine

Following the parade, Borden will demonstrate the workings of the two-way system at the Kingston-Ulster Airport. Two mobile radio units will be used, one on the pumper and the other on Borden's own car. Several "walkie-talkies" will also be demonstrated. A loudspeaking system will be set up to carry the explanation to the spectators as the demonstration progresses.

Members of the county association's radio committee, headed by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, include Chief Winfred Snyder of Hurley; Chief Edward Maines of Port Ewen; Mervin Doremus, member of the Woodstock department, and Coordinator Chipp. The committee has been urging the purchase of two-way radio equipment for Ulster county fire use.

Arrangements to stage the demonstration after the parade were completed through the town of Ulster convention committee consisting of Supervisor Percy Bush and Millard T. Davis, Chipp said.

Some termites carry fungi to kill wood for them to eat.

Dinner and . . .

Manor avenue side of the armory, proceed to Roosevelt avenue, then to Albany avenue, to Morton Boulevard, to Boice's Lane and the Kingston-Ulster Airport where it will disband.

At least 25 fire companies, 10 musical units, and 10 groups of ladies' auxiliaries are scheduled to participate.

Must Keep Formation

The parade chairman advises that "All companies and bands must remain in formation when entering the airport grounds. They are asked to follow guidance to their designated location for refreshments. This is important to avoid delay and confusion."

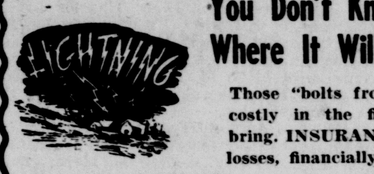

The reviewing stand will be on the grounds of Ulster Hose Company. Supervisor Percy Bush and other officials will be judges. Trophies will be given for the best and second best fire companies in the line of march and for the best musical unit, with the host company excluded.

Supervisors to Meet

There will be a special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday evening, July 21, at 7:45 p. m. in the supervisors room of the court house. The meeting will be for the transaction of such business as may come before the board. Among the items which may be discussed is the proposal to install parking meters in the county-owned parking lot on John street.

Midwestern Sections Get Some Rainfall

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear in most of the western states and in the northeastern part of the country today but it was wet and cloudy weather over wide areas of the mid-continent.

Rain and thunderstorms hit sections of Illinois and Indiana and southern Wisconsin during the night. Earlier showers fell in the eastern Dakotas and thundershowers were reported in northern Texas and southern Arizona.

Heaviest rainfall yesterday was in the southeastern and south central sections of the country, with more than 3 inches at New Orleans in 24 hours ending at midnight. The rainfall at Macon, Ga., measured nearly 2½ inches, nearly 2 inches at Topeka, Kan., and 1½ inch at Memphis.

Cooler Pacific air continued to move slowly eastward over the north and central plains. Greatest cooling was along the eastern slopes of the central Rockies. It was 66 in Casper, Wyo., yesterday compared to 98 on Wednesday.

Hot weather continued in the far southwest. Yesterday's hot spots were Thermal and El Centro, Calif., which reported 107, the same reading as on Wednesday.

Regional Forecasts

Western New York, Northern Finger Lakes to Lake Ontario and east of Lake Ontario, Black river basin — Midsummer heat, dry weather and mostly clear skies continuing today, tonight and tomorrow. High today around 90, low tonight 65-70. Light variable winds under 15 MPH throughout.

Northern New York, western Mohawk area, south-central New York and southeastern New York —Sunny and continued hot today and Saturday with the high both days 88-95. Chance for a few isolated late afternoon or evening thundershowers. West to northwest wind 10-25 today becoming southerly tomorrow. Good to excellent drying. Fair at night, low in the 60s. Outlook for Sunday, continued fair and hot with only a chance for a few widely scattered afternoon thundershowers.

Hard Persuasion Surpasses Denunciation, Ike Finds

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Political honeymoons, like the other kind, seldom last forever. They may ripen into a lifetime of happy teamwork. Or they may wither into pre-divorce bickering. Frequently you can look for some sort of crisis after the first six months.

So it was with Harry S. Truman in his relations with Congress. And so it is turning out for Dwight D. Eisenhower, who succeeded Truman in the White House six months ago next Monday.

Strange as it may seem, in the light of his subsequent rows with the lawmakers, and with the Republican 80th Congress in particular, Truman and the men on Capitol Hill exchanged hardly a cross word in the momentous first six months following Franklin D. Roosevelt's death.

It was only after Truman submitted his first legislative program, a few days short of the six month mark, that the sparring which later became a donnybrook, began.

Until that time Truman's difficulties with his former colleagues were, if anything, less notable than Eisenhower's have been. There were no such controversies as the one over confirmation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense or, more recently, over the air force budget.

Tries to Avoid Conflict

Trouble with Congress, of course, is the last thing Eisenhower has wanted. He has tried so hard to avoid it, in fact, that some Democrats have complained his administration lacks strong leadership.

Eisenhower's own attitude, as he has expressed it, could be summed up in a homely adage: You catch more flies with honey than you do with vinegar.

Persuasion, rather than denunciation, is his stock in trade, and, halfway through his first year in office, he has found it advisable to persuade oftener and harder than ever before.

With Congress in a rush to adjourn at the end of this month, Eisenhower has telephoned key legislators, had them to frequent White House conferences. On a single day this week he breakfasted with the men who control the purse strings in the House, lunched with their counterparts in the Senate.

Uses Effective Way

"He didn't try to pressure us," one lawmaker said afterward. "He didn't even ask for anything specific. He just talked about the general picture and gave us some information we hadn't had before. It was a most effective presentation."

But it didn't stop the House group from voting, only 24 hours later, to slash more than a billion dollars from the President's foreign aid program—a cornerstone of his whole foreign policy.

This was only a subcommittee action. There's a chance for part or all of the cut to be restored later in the legislative process. But time is short and persuasion takes time. The next two weeks may tell whether Eisenhower's honeymoon with Congress will ripen—or, like many another honeymoon, will be interrupted by a quarrel over money.

Firemen Will See Two-Way Radio in Test on Saturday

A demonstration and explanation of the use by fire fighting forces of two-way radio system has been arranged by the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association radio committee for Saturday afternoon following the firemen's parade, it was announced today by Arthur C. Chipp, county fire coordinator.

Through arrangements completed with Dewey Borden, Sullivan county fire coordinator and chief of the Liberty Fire Department, the J. C. Young Hose Company pumper will participate in the Ulster county association's parade on Saturday, manned by at least six members of the company.

Will Explain Routine

Following the parade, Borden will demonstrate the workings of the two-way system at the Kingston-Ulster Airport. Two mobile radio units will be used, one on the pumper and the other on Borden's own car. Several "walkie-talkies" will also be demonstrated. A loudspeaking system will be set up to carry the explanation to the spectators as the demonstration progresses.
